(from Italian Vegetarian Cooking by Jo Marcangelo)

(Serves 4)

4 medium red or green peppers
2 T olive oil
1 medium onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, peeled and crushed
2 small zucchini, coarsely grated
1 1/2 c sliced mushrooms
2 T chopped fresh parsley
2 c fresh wholewheat breadcrumbs
1/2 c grated Parmesan cheese
1 egg, beaten
Salt and pepper

1) Core peppers by removing stem and then scooping out interior, removing all the white pith and seeds. Parboil for 3 minutes in boiling water; remove, rinse in cold water and drain.

2) Heat oil in frying pan, add onion, fry 2 minutes. Add zucchini, fry another 3 minutes. Add mushrooms, fry another 1 minute, drain [this is to keep the filling from being soupy; you may want to try just sauteing until the liquid is gone]. Add rest of ingredients, with salt and pepper to taste. Combine thoroughly.

3) Fill peppers with mixture. Stand upright (cutting a small slice off the bottom if necessary) in an ovenproof dish with 2 or 3 T water in the bottom.

4) Bake at 350 degrees for 30-45 minutes, or until the peppers are tender. Serve hot.

Ideas: add basil, top with cayenne pepper.

Stuffed Green Peppers

From: "Beverley Epp" Beverley@lehman.on.ca
Date: Thu, 23 Sep 1993 00:19:57 GMT

About 8 Peppers (Green/Red/or whatever colour)
1 lb hot Italian Sausage cumbled
1 lb ground beef
1 onion chopped
1-2 cups fresh or canned tomatoes
1 cup cooked rice
Italian Seasoning
Seasoned Pepper
Grated Mozzarella

Saute beef, sausage, onion until browned. Drain fat off. Add tomatoes, seasonings and simmer for a little bit. Add rice. Stuff into peppers that have been cut lengthwise and cleaned out. Sprinkle with mozzarella or parmesan. Bake in a casserole with some tomatoe sauce underneath peppers at about 350 until hot. These freeze great. I make a lot at this time of year when peppers are cheap and freeze them.

Stuffed Green Peppers

From: barrie.lax@synapse.org (Barrie Lax)
Date: Mon, 27 Sep 1993 13:10:00 GMT

Cut the tops off 8 green peppers and remove the seeds. Mix a pound of lean minced beef (Hamburger) with a heaping 1/4 cup of rice. Add a clove of garlic chopped, a medium onion chopped and salt and pepper and blend well. Pack this mixture into each pepper to fill 2/3ds and replace the tops. Fit upright in a large saucepan. To cover you will need about 2 cups of tomato juice to which add about 4 tbsp vinegar (wine preferred) along with 3 tbsp of sugar. A little chicken stock (about 1 tbsp powdered) would be nice if you have it. Add enough water to this to just cover the peppers if you are short.

Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for about an hour until the peppers are tender and about 2/3ds of the liquid is absorbed.

You can sub brown sugar or honey for the sweetener...add garlic to the juice if you're a fanatic. You can also puree a can of tomatoes and add tomato juice to bring you up to quantity if you like a stronger tomato note. Adjust the rice to meat mixture to if you like. Hey...This is a recipe I have made often and can vouch for. If you like it sweeter or less meaty that's up to you. The quantities work for me. Obviously the size of the peppers will have something to do with the required amount of filling.

This recipe is of Balkan origin and is served both hot and cold as a first or main course. As I am here in Ottawa, you may call if you get into trouble.

Here is an Indian stuffed pepper recipe:

You need:

2 red and 2 green peppers (large)
5 Tbsp oil
1 onion, finely chopped
2 tsp ground coriander
1 tsp ground cumin
1/2 tsp cayenne pepper (or to taste)
350 g of ground beef
3 Tbsp rice
1 can (400 g) tomatoes, keep the liquid
salt

Heat 3 Tbsp of oil in a frying pan, fry the onion until golden. Add spices and cook 2 minutes. Add the ground beef and cook well. Add the rice and the salt and cook 2 minutes.

Cut the top of each pepper, remove the seeds and the ribs inside. Fill them with the beef mixture.

Select a large sauce pan, big enough to fit the four peppers standing up. Put the last 2 Tbsp of oil in the pot, fit the peppers, add the tomatoes around and pour the tomato juice into each pepper.

Cover the pot, bring to boil and simmer for 40 minutes.

- Mushroom Recipes : COLLECTION
Roger Joseph is always asking about Portobello recipes and I tore this page out of an American Way magazine on the flight back from Florida cause it had a recipe and it reminded me of him.

Brush the mushroom with olive oil, balsamic vinegar, and lots of black and red pepper (big mushroom, eh?). Grill it for 2 and a half minutes on each side, and garnish it with a puree of garlic and parsley. Serve it with lemon slices on a bed of salad greens with a roasted red bell pepper. If you have leftover stems and broken mushrooms bits, simmer them for ninety minutes in water with a bay leaf and thyme. Use the dark brew to add or enhance a mushroom flavour in sauce.
Marinated Mushrooms

From: st931530@pip.cc.brandeis.edu
Date: Thu, 21 Oct 1993 18:00:54 GMT

1 cup white wine
2 tbs. brown sugar
1/4 cup sliced green onion
1 ts hot red pepper flakes
1/2 ts salt
1/2 ts Oregano leaves
1/2 cup white wine vinegar
2 cloves garlic, finely minced
1/4 cup diced red pepper
1 lb small fresh mushrooms, trimmed.
1/4 ts. ground black pepper.

Combine wine, vinegar, sugar, garlic, green onion, red pepper and red pepper flakes in an 8 cup microwaveable casserole. Cover; microwave at high for three to five minutes or until mixture is simmering. Add mushrooms. Cover; microwave at high 6 to 8 minutes or until mushrooms are tender but not mushy. Stir partway through cooking. Stir in salt, oregano, and pepper. Let stand, covered, for thirty minutes. Transfer to covered jar or container. Can be refrigerated up to one week.

Actually, it's a good one, even if you can't stand microwave cooking. Just watch the mushrooms carefully while they cook. They're also good when reheated.

Adapted without permission from Nika Hazelton's Way with vegetables (a good book, and most recipes are healthier than this one)

Chop 1 pound of mushrooms into halves or quarters. Heat 2/3 cup heavy cream. Heat 2T butter in a deep frying pan. Add 3-4 chopped garlic cloves to the butter. Add mushrooms and cook for about 2 min, until brown. Add hot cream, salt, 1 tsp pepper, 2 tsp nutmeg. Cook for about 5 more min, then add 1/2 cup chopped cilantro. Serve on hot buttered rice or French bread.

BAKED SCALLOPS AND MUSHROOMS IN GARLIC SAUCE
==============================================

Ingredients:
-------------
3/4 lb scallops
1/4 cup flour
1/2 lb mushrooms, stems removed and minced
3 tblsp olive oil
1/4 cup white wine
3 tblsp fine bread crumbs
2 tblsp minced onion
1 tbsp minced parsley
2 clove minced or pressed garlic pinch of red pepper flakes & salt

Instructions:
-------------
Preheat oven to 350F. Brush a shallow baking dish with 1 tbs of the oil. Bake the 'shroom caps for 10 min. Combine stems, crumbs, onion, parsley, red pepper and salt mix together well. Add scallops to the baking dish.

(If you really want to be artistic, plan it out so the scallops are a good size to fit into the mushroom caps, and buy the same number of each. Then you can stick one scallop in each 'shroom.)

Add the wine to the baking dish. Sprinkle the minced mixture over all, and drizzle the remaining oil over. Bake for 20 more min, or until done.

BAKED STUFFED MUSHROOM
=========================

Ingredients:
------------
8-10 large fresh mushrooms
1 can of crab meat (drained)
1-2 tbsp mayonaise
1/4 cup (or so) shredded swiss cheese

Instructions:
-------------
Cut the stems of the mushrooms and scoop out the centers. Finely chop stems and centers. Combine the crab meat and mayo (as you would for tuna salad). Note:
-----
My sister has a "gourmet" recipe with about 97 different ingredients, and it IS good, but this is the one dinner guests seem to prefer - they usually are the first to disappear!

CRISP SAUTEED MUSHROOMS
========================

Ingredients:
-------------
1 # large whole fresh mushrooms
these mushrooms must be absolutely fresh and the caps should not be separating from the stems.

Instructions:
-------------
Brush off mushrooms and slice into 1/4" slices from the top down, including the stems.

With a fine mist spray bottle, mist the mushrooms to just barely dampen.

Drop into a paper bag or large ziplock bag that contains 1 or 2 cups of a/p flour. Stir well or shake very gently. Then, let the mushrooms "marinate" for a while in the flour while you prepare to cook them.

In a large, well seasoned cast-iron skillet or a commercial quality non-stick skillet melt 1/2 stick of fresh unsalted butter and ~1/4 cup of olive oil. Mix the oils well and heat to ~300-325 degrees F.

Drop the mushrooms into a colander to remove excess flour. Drop a few at a time into the butter/oil and coat each well. Continue 'til all the mushrooms are in the skillet. Turn down the heat to the saute level and continue to cook, turning frequently. After a few minutes add salt and pepper to taste.

Continue to cook until the degree of crispness is achieved.

My neighbor used to cook these for a long time, rendering nearly all the moisture out of the mushrooms. The finished product would be the most delicate, and crisp mushrooms used as a side vegetable.

ITALIAN STUFFED MUSHROOMS

1 lb hot Italian sausage
1 slice finely chopped onion
1/2 green pepper, finely diced
1/4 tsp garlic powder
1/4 cup dry bread crumbs dash of pepper
1/4 tsp salt
c.a. 1 1/4 cups spaghetti sauce
40 large mushroom caps oil mozzarella cheese

Instructions:
-------------
Cook Italian sausage, onion, green pepper, garlic powder, and a handful of mushroom stems, finely chopped, in a skillet, then drain fat. (It's best if you put meat mixture into a food processor with steel blade at this point to give meat a finer texture. Just process for about 5 seconds or less.) Then add bread crumbs, pepper, salt, and spaghetti sauce. Coat mushroom caps with oil. Fill mushroom caps with meat mixture. Cover with foil and bake at 350 about 20 minutes. Sprinkle with mozzarella cheese, then broil until cheese is melted and mushrooms are tender. (Or loosely cover with wax paper and microwave.)

MUSHROOM-BACON PATE - PARTY PATE WITHOUT LIVER
================================================
Ingredients:
------------
2 lbs     fresh mushrooms, chopped very fine
1/2 lb    bacon (or more, to taste)
2/3 cup   onion, chopped very fine
2/3 cup   celery, chopped very fine
8 oz      cream cheese, at room temperature
4         eggs
1/2 cup   parsley, chopped very fine
2 cups    dry bread crumbs
1 tsp     salt
1 tsp     dried rosemary
1 tsp     dried oregano
1/4 tsp   ground black pepper

(1) Fry the bacon and crumble it as fine as possible. Reserve some of the grease.

(2) Chop the mushrooms, onion, celery, and parsley as fine as possible.
    A food processor works best, but you can do it by hand if need be.

(3) Saute the onion and celery in the bacon grease until soft, then remove from the grease, and drain.

(4) Meanwhile, beat the cream cheese slightly, and then beat in the eggs. Add all other ingredients to the eggs/cheese mixture. Mix thoroughly.

(5) Grease a large loaf pan or two small, line with foil, and then grease the foil. Pat the mixture into the loaf pan and cover loosely with foil. Bake for 1 1/2 hours at 400 deg. F.

(6) Let cool completely before serving.

Notes:
------
This pate is actually best when refrigerated before serving. Serve with crackers, or with bread cut into shapes with cookie cutters.

To make this a more elegant buffet dish, garnish the top with a thin layer of aspic.

4 tblsp  capers
6        anchovy fillets, drained
1 cup    olive oil
1/4 cup  lemon juice
1 lb     small mushrooms
Freshly ground black pepper

Instructions:
-------------
Rinse two tablespoons of capers and dry on a paper towel. Pound them and the anchovies in a mortar or press them through a sieve with a spoon. When the mixture is reduced to a paste, transfer it to a mixing bowl. Add the oil little by little, stirring as you do it. Add the lemon juice and pepper to taste. Let the sauce stand in a covered container at least 4 hours before serving. Remove the stems from the mushrooms and clean them with a damp paper towel. Place five on each plate and spoon three tablespoons of the tapenade over them. Garnish the plates with the remaining capers.

OYSTER FRIED MUSHROOMS
========================

Ingredients:
-------------
4 oz       Oyster mushrooms, rinsed and kept slightly moist
1 1/2 cup  safflower oil for frying

Flour mix:
1 tsp nori flakes, pulverized in a coffee grinder or blender
1/2 tsp garlic powder
1/4 cup unbleached flour
pinch of salt and pepper

Water mix:

1/2 tsp nori flakes
1/4 tsp garlic powder
1/2 cup water

Bread crumb mix:

2 cups fresh bread crumbs (not dried, no crust)
4 tsp nori flakes
1/2 tsp garlic powder

Instructions:

Thoroughly mix ingredients for each of the three mixes. Heat oil to 350°F (I don't trust my stove, so I got an oil thermometer. He says five mins on med heat) in a wok. Dredge mushrooms in flour mix and shake off excess. Dip mushrooms into water mix and shake off excess. Dredge mushrooms in crumb mix. Fry mushrooms four to five at a time for about 1 1/2 minutes, being careful that the breading doesn't get beyond golden. Drain mushrooms on a towel covered plate. Allow a minute between batches for oil to re-heat. Mushrooms may be kept warm in a 250°F oven.

Serve garnished with fresh lime chunks.

Note:

Although these are deep fried, the mag says they're only 7g fat per serving, for what that's worth.

These are supposed to resemble fried oysters. I obviously wouldn't know, but they're really good, and all the Orthodox people I've served them to have like them.

QUICK KALE & MUSHROOM SAUTE
=================================

(serves 4 as a side, 2 as an entree)

1 tblsp olive oil (I use about 1t, but hey)
1 tblsp minced garlic
1 tblsp soy margerine (I omit this)
8 oz. white mushrooms (to make this really good try oysters or chantrelles)
4 cups kale, tightly packed
1/4 cup water
1 tsp tamari
5 cherry tomatoes, quartered (this time of year I tear up dried tomatoes)
salt and pepper to taste

Instructions:
-------------

Heat olive oil on medium in a 4 1/2 qt sauce pan. Add garlic and margerine (if used) and saute until garlic is lightly browned. Add veggies and stir 15-30 seconds, making sure not to burn the garlic. Add water, tamari, salt and pepper and cook another 5 minutes, stirring often. Add tomatoes and cook another 5 minutes on low. Serve immediately.

Note:

I assume this dish is meant as a side, but over couscous, millet or bulghur it's a quickie meal.

SAUTED MUSHROOMS ON TOAST
============================

Ingredients:
------------

2 cups fresh mushrooms
2 shallots
2 tblsp fresh chopped parsley
1 tblsp butter
1/2 tsp lemon juice (preferably fresh)

Instructions:
-------------

Clean the mushrooms in cold water (Harlod McGee tells us that they do not absorb enough water to be worth the fuss of using a mushroom brush. I agree. Since they are already something like 95% water, even if they absorb a large amount, they will only become ... what – 96%?)

Cut or pull the stems off of the mushrooms (save them for mushroom soup or a duxell) and slice the caps into 3/16 inch slices.

Finely chop the shallots. If you don't have shallots, use 3 tbsp chopped onion and 1 small clove of garlic, chopped, minced, diced, pressed, cleavered or otherwise made mushy in your most favorite way.

Heat a frying/saute pan over medium-high heat. Add the butter and let it melt. When the butter is bubbling, add the mushrooms. Saute, tossing or stirring until the mushrooms start to brown. If a lot of juice comes out of the mushrooms, simply boil it away and keep on.

As the mushrooms start to brown, add the shallots (or onion and garlic) and the chopped parsley. Finish browning the mushrooms.

Taste the mixture. Sometimes it will improve in flavor with the addition of the lemon juice. Sometimes it doesn't seem to be needed.

Spoon the sautéed mushrooms over warm, buttered toast.

If you want to be fancy, cut the crusts off of the bread before you make the toast, cut it diagonally after it is toasted and buttered and call it 'toast points.' Sprinkle a little fresh chopped parsley on top of the mushrooms and put a small sprig of parsley on the plate beside. Invite the in-laws over and tell them you are learning to cook at the Internet Cooking School.

Another Option: In place of shallots, use about 2 -3 tablespoons of finely chopped fresh chives.

SPICY PORTABELLA MUSHROOMS IN BALSAMIC VINEGAR
=================================================================

Ingredients:
-------------
2 Portabella mushrooms (they are Xpensive!)
2 large sweet red peppers
2 cherry tomatoes
1/2 red onion
1 tsp olive oil
1 tblsp fresh, coarsely ground black pepper
Coriander leaves

Sauce:
-----
1/2 capful very good BALSAMIC VINEGAR (this is the key - get one from a specialty store, the supermarket ones are too watered down. A good Modena type is good)
1/4 tsp Hungarian paprika for flavour salt to taste

Algorithm:
----------

Preparation:
------------
1. Whisk the sauce ingredients together
2. Wipe the shrooms with a moist towel and slice long.
3. Chop the onions along the grooves.

Cooking:
--------
1. Place whole peppers and tomatoes on a foil in a preheated oven at BROIL. Keep turning them until the peppers are charred. The tomatoes will bleed into the foil...don't throw that water.
2. Remove peppers and make long slices. Remove the core and the seeds.
3. Mix the cherry tomatoes and the fluid they exude, into the sauce. Mix well until the tomatoes are crushed into the sauce.
4. Pour the oil in a heated skillet. Saute onions and 'shrooms. Sprinkle with black pepper. Add half the sauce and saute for a few mts. more.

Serving:
--------
1. Arrange the shrooms on a plate. Place the red peppers around it. Pour the extra sauce on the circumference. Sprinkle coriander leaves.
2. Serve with brown rice or rye bread.

Note:
-----
This is a mildly hot recipe for my favourite 'shroom which I have perfected over months. Generally, I dislike food that has no heat...its just too unappetising for me. But this 'shroom is so flavourful that a minimum of spicing is desired. So I have struck a balance between what my palate irks for and what the 'shroom demands..... Its fabulous!

=====================

Ingredients:
------------
1 large tomatoe
1 large yellow onion several very large mushrooms garlic (optional)
salt pepper
olive oil

Instructions:
-------------
Wash the mushrooms, cut off the tip of the stems, and remove the stems, (I also peel the outer skin of the mushroom, but some people find this excessive). Chop the mushroom stems into very small bits. Coat the outer portion of the caps with olive oil. Finely chop onion, garlic, and tomato. Fry onion and garlic in olive oil (just a little bit), until soft. Add mushroom bits, tomato, salt and pepper to taste. Fry until mushroom bits start to soften. Place mixture in mushroom caps, and fry or grill until caps soften. (I prefer grilling, but it's a lot more work). Serve. I find that steak is an excellent complement to this dish.

Here's a super easy one. Take frozen creamed spinach and fill the mushroom caps. Top with grated parmesan cheese and bake until cheese starts to brown at about 350. I do this when people drop in and I don't have anything prepared.

=====================

Ingredients:
------------
3 large pkg big mushrooms
1 pkg regular pork sausage
Salt and pepper to taste
1-1/2 – 2 tblsp dried onion

Instructions:
-------------
Snap off stems, wash and cut up. Cook in margarine/butter, about 2 tablespoon. Don't add any water. Salt and pepper to taste and a little bit of onion, dry about 1 1/2 to 2 tablespoon, or more if you like. Cook for about 20-30 minutes. When cooked, chop fine. Wash mushroom caps and drain on paper toweling. Mix together the sausage and the cooked mushrooms. Stuff the caps and bake for 20-30 minutes at 375 degrees. Remove from pan and arrange on platter/plate. If you use more packages of mushrooms, use more sausage, and increase the other ingredients accordingly.

=====================

Ingredients:
------------
12 large mushrooms
2 tblsp butter
1 medium onion
2 tblsp dry white wine
1/2 cup bread crumbs
2 tblsp fresh snipped parsley
1 tblsp lime juice
2 cloves garlic finely chopped
1 tsp dried oregano leaves
3 oz shredded jack cheese freshly ground pepper

Instructions:
-------------
Remove stems from mushrooms and finely chop. Melt butter in skillet.
Cook mushroom caps top side down until light brown. Remove with slotted spoon, draining liquid from inside caps. Cook onion in same skillet until tender. Stir in wine. Simmer uncovered 2 minutes. Stir in chopped stems. Add remaining ingredients except cheese. Mix completely. Put caps on ungreased baking sheet. Place stuffing in caps. Sprinkle with cheese. Broil until cheese melts (about 3 minutes).

Note:
-----
This is great for company, as it can completely be made ahead of time.
Just stuff the mushrooms, and put the entire baking sheet into the fridge. When you want to serve it, put it in 375 degree oven for about 15 minutes or until cheese melts.

Gratin of Potatoes Girardet

From: r.gagnaux@chnet.ch (Rene Gagnaux)
Date: Sat, 18 Sep 1993 12:00:00 +0200

Categories: Gratin
Servings:  4

400 g  Floury potatoes (14 oz)            20 g  Unsalted butter (3/4 oz)
1 x  Small clove of garlic                    Salt, pepper, cayenne and 200 ml Milk (scant 1/2 pint)                    - nutmeg
100 ml Double cream (scant 1/4 pint

IMPORTANT: The gratin is best if it is given gentle, slow cooking

Peel the potatoes and cut them into thin slices about 3 mm (1/8 in) thick. ABOVE ALL, DO NOT WASH THEM.

Peel and chop the clove of garlic very finely and mix it with the slices of potato.

Put the potatoes into a saucepan with just enough milk to cover them. Season with salt, pepper, cayenne and a few gratings of nutmeg.

Put the pan over a fairly high heat and cook the potatoes for 4-5 minutes, or until you can see that the milk has blended and thickened a little with the starch given out by the potatoes. At this point, add half the cream and just bring the pan to the boil. Take it off the stove and taste for seasoning.

Butter a gratin dish. This should be big enough to take the potatoes in a layer NOT MORE THAN 2 cm (3/4 in) THICK. Arrange the potatoes in the dish with their creamy milk. Add the rest of the cream and mix it in well. Sprinkle a few flakes of butter on the surface.

Pre-heat the oven to 160 oC/320 oF. Bake the gratin at the bottom of the oven for a good 1 1/2 hours.

Excellent with any plainly cooked poultry or roast meat.

Marjoram Potato Casserole

From: cschnell@iiasa.ac.at (Carey SCHNELL)
Date: Tue, 3 Aug 1993 07:41:31 GMT

750 g potatoes
salt
bunch of fresh marjoram (dried otherwise) 250g cream
2 egg yolks
freshly ground pepper
40 g butter
75g ham

(If I want this as a main meal, then I use minced meat and prepare it the same way I would for Lasagna (ie spicy and rich)
I then just alternate the layers of meat mix and the potato recipe.)

- Wash, peel and slice the potatoes thinly.
- In lightly salted, rolling boiling water, cook for 5 mins.
(sorry about the sentence structure- I'm translating this from German-this is an "authentic" Austrian recipe...)
- Drain the potatoes thoroughly in a sieve.
- Take the Marjoram from the stalks, and chop finely.
- Mix salt, pepper and marjoram with the egg yolks and cream.
- Grease a casserole dish, and place half the potatoes in the form.
- Chop the ham finely, and spread half over the potatoes.
- Sprinkle s and p over the layers.
- Place the rest of the potatoes in the dish, and then pour the egg mix over the top. Sprinkle with ham, and dot the top with the remainder of the butter used for greasing the dish.

Cook on 250degrees Celcius (er- Farenheit, ~375) for 30-40 mins, or until golden on top.
Serve with a green salad dressed with a marjoram/vinegar combination.

Note:
I have made this with basil instead of marjoram (and the same with the salad) and it was wonderful. To cut down the fat content, I have used a mustard sauce with chunks of low fat cheese melted into it- also great!

ARMENIAN POTATOES
=================

Ingredients:
-----------
750 g old potatoes, peeled thinly and diced
3 tblsp tomato paste (I used one with added herbs and onion)
1/4 cup water
4 cloves garlic, very finely chopped
1 tsp salt
1/2 tsp paprika
1/4 cup oil (I used a bit less and used some of my own herbed olive oil)
1 cup finely chopped parsley

Instructions:
------------
Place the whole lot in a casserole dish and bake at around 375F for 45 minutes or until the potatoes are tender.

I cooked it for somewhat longer than this because the males in the family vanished to watch some field hockey later afternoon and were a bit delayed coming home. As long as you don't use mush spuds, I would say this dish is fairly forgiving of being left to fend for itself.
We had it with some small lamb roasts (these are cut from the rump and weight about 7 ounces) which I patted dry, then rubbed with a mix of herbs and spices and barbecued till medium rare then sliced thinly. We also had some al dente whole baby green beans.

Baked Potato Slices

Ingredients:

4 medium even potatoes
1 tsp salt
2-3 tbsp melted butter
2-3 tbsp chopped fresh herbs (parsley, chives, thyme, sage) or 2-3 tsp dried herbs or 1.5 tsp caraway seeds or cumin
4 tbsp grated Cheddar cheese
1.5 tbsp Parmesan cheese

Instructions:

1) Peel potatoes if the skin is tough, otherwise just scrub and rinse.

2) Cut potatoes into thin slices but not all the way through. Use a handle of a spoon to prevent the knife from cutting all the way.

3) Put potatoes in a baking dish. Fan them slightly.

4) Sprinkle with salt and drizzle with butter. Sprinkle with herbs.

5) Bake potatoes at 425 degrees for about 50 minutes

6) Remove from oven. Sprinkle with cheeses.

7) Bake potatoes for another 10 to 15 minutes until lightly browned, cheeses are melted and potatoes are soft inside. Check with a fork.
EIFELER SCHOLES

Ingredients:
---------
1.5 kg potatoes
3 rolls
50 g durchwachsener Speck (that is ham that is "red and white" red from the meat - and white from the fat) It is here abit smoked
1 little onion
4 eggs
salt
pepper

Instructions:
------------
Grate the potatoes and onion. Cut the ham into little cubes and melt/bake it out. Put the rolls into water, so that they soak water and press them out. Mix that all together (potatoes, ham and the mashed rolls) with the eggs.

Put the dough in a form (like the one you use for lasagne for example), which is greased with butter, and put it for 90 minutes into the oven (180 Celsius) until it is "golden" on the top.

FRENCH POTATO BALLS

(Serves 6)

Ingredients:
-----------
4 medium potatoes, peeled, sliced and cooked
2 tbsp         mayonnaise
1 tsp          French Mustard
1 clove        garlic crushed
1 tbsp         chopped parsley
1 tbsp         chopped chives
pepper         to taste
1 1/2 - 2 cups dried breadcrumbs (180g)
2               eggs, beaten with 3 tbsp water
Self-Raising Flour
Oil for deep frying

Instructions:
-------------
Mash potatoes with mayonnaise, mustard, garlic, parsley, chives, pepper and sufficient flour to make a firm dough. Roll potato mixture into balls. Dip each into egg the egg and water mix, then roll in breadcrumbs. Refrigerate coated balls at least 1 hr.

To cook, heat oil and deep-fry balls until brown. Serve with your favourite meat.

Hint:
-----
When coating food to be fried, always use egg and water, not egg and milk, as milk tends to make food stick to the pan.

GNOCCHI Is (Potato(e) Cavatelli)

3              boiled potato(e)s
2 tbsp         olive oil or shortening
1              egg (optional)

Peel and mash the potatoes and pass through a sieve. Sift flour and form a well on dough board. Place potatoes and melted shortening or oil inside well, blend thoroughly, and knead until smooth.

Now you are on your own when it comes to making the shape. I am not quite sure how it is done by hand because I have a hand crank machine that shapes them for me. Then you top them with your favorite spaghetti sauce.

Hope this helps. I can't get enough of these and everyone that I have served this to loves them.

HASH BROWNS

This is what I usually make and my S.O. loves it. It tastes good anytime of the day! I nuke (boil if you have time) some potatoes cut into fat chunks (I always use the red ones) and add sliced mushrooms, red pepper, green pepper, red onions and if you want you could also add bacon, hot salsa, chopped tomatoes, sausage, chorizo, hot peppers, etc...

I then sautee this mess for awhile until soft and tender then I throw in some fresh basil, parsley, cilantro and oregano from my garden. It is really good and easy to make! Also very filling! I like to put either salsa or ketchup on top of mine, my S.O. covers his with Blue cheese dressing. Enjoy! Kathy

HASH BROWNS

Ingredients:

potatoes (any kind work - I like Idaho bakers)
oil (I prefer bacon fat or peanut oil)

Optional ingredients (all to taste and based on the number and size of the potatoes)

diced onions
bacon sliced into small pieces grated cheddar cheese

Instructions:
Peel the potatoes (this is also optional - I usually am lazy and leave the peel on).

Grate the potatoes.

Thoroughly wash the grated potato in cold water. This is a key step. It washes out much of the starch and will allow them to cook crispier. Squeeze the water out of the potato in a paper or cloth towel. Melt the fat in hot frying pan (black cast iron works best) or add the peanut oil. The potato will soak up a lot of oil, but be careful, they can taste oily if you add too much.

Slowly add the grated potatoes - be careful of splattering the oil since they are wet.

You can leave them in place and then flip when one side is golden brown. I prefer to stir them frequently so all the little pieces brown. If you do this, when you are about half done, you can add the bacon and onions (any earlier and they tend to burn - esp the onion). If you do not stir the potatoes, mix the sliced onion and pre-cooked bacon in with the potatoes ahead of time (bacon this way must be pre-cooked to ensure it all is cooked.

Keep stirring every two minutes or so until they reach your desired brownness. Near the very end, you can grate some cheese over the potatoes.

Method 2:
---------
Use leftover baked potato - or bake one for 7 minutes in the microwave. Do all the above steps except wash the potato.

HONEYED ROAST POTATOES

2 tbsp oil
60 g butter

From: ynnuf@yetti.amigans.gen.nz (Doreen Randal)

MAJORAM POTATO CASSEROLE
========================

Ingredients:
------------
750 g potatoes
250 g cream (you can use a mix of yoghurt and sour cream to lower the fat content)
2 egg yolks
40 g butter
75 g ham
bunch of fresh marjoram (dried otherwise)
freshly ground pepper
salt

If I want this as a main meal, then I use minced meat and prepare it the same way I would for Lasagna (ie spicy and rich - you don't need to tell The Parents this little secret though) I then just alternate the layers of meat mix and the potato recipe.
Instructions:
-------------
Wash, peel and slice the potatoes thinly.

In lightly salted, rolling boiling water, cook for 5 mins. (sorry about the sentence structure- I'm translating this from German- this is an authentic Austrian recipe...)

Drain the potatoes thoroughly in a sieve.

Take the Marjoram from the stalks, and chop finely. Mix salt, pepper and marjoram with the egg yolks and cream.

Grease a casserole dish, and place half the potatoes in the form. Chop the ham finely, and spread half over the potatoes. Sprinkle salt and pepper over the layers.

Place the rest of the potatoes in the dish, and then pour the egg mix over the top. Sprinkle with ham, and dot the top with the remainder of the butter used for greasing the dish.

Cook on 250 degrees Celcius (er- Farenheit, ~375) for 30-40 mins, or until golden on top.

If you choose this one, still serve with a green salad.

MEATLESS MEATLOAF
=================

Ingredients:
-------------

2 raw white potatoes
1 cup onions, chopped
1 cup dry bread crumbs or wheat germ
1 cup pecans (or walnuts or sunflower seeds)
2 well-beaten eggs (or for a vegan variety, add some tamari and delete salt)
1 tsp salt, unless you added tamari
Dash pepper
basil or any other favorite "meat loaf" spices, like mustard.

Instructions:
-------------
Preheat oven to 350.

Put potatoes, onions, nuts, and bread through a food processor so it is all ground up, like meat loaf. Mix these ingredients well, then add the rest of the ingredients.

Put in well-greased loaf pan and bake until 1 hour or until firm.

Stays firm when cold, so it is very good for meatloaf sandwiches.

MILLET "MASHED POTATOES"
--------------------------
Yield: 10 to 12 servings

Ingredients:
------------
2 cups millet
6 cups water
4 cups cauliflower pieces
1/4 tsp black pepper
2 tblsp soy margarine or unrefined corn oil (note to Canadians: Our soy margarine is not vegan)
1 1/2 tsp sea salt (optional)
1/8 tsp nutmeg (or 1/4 teaspoon dill weed; optional)

Instructions:
-------------
Wash and drain the millet. Place all ingredients (except the optional spice) in a large pot and bring to a simmer over high heat. Lower heat, cover, and continue cooking until the millet mixture is soft (about 45 minutes). Check periodically to make sure the mixture does not burn. Mash the mixture using a potato masher, or blend it for about 30 seconds in a food processor. Add one of the optional spices, if you wish, and serve hot.

PAPAS A LA HUNCAINA, MAS O MENO

Ingredients:
-------------

1 lb     small red potatoes, or any waxy-skinned variety cut in half or into pieces no larger than 2" in any direction
Juice    of 1/2 lime
2 tsp    achiote seeds, ground and sifted as described
2        shallots, coarsely chopped
1/4 tsp  dried thyme
1        habanero chile, ripe, roasted, peeled and chopped
2 tblsp  or so olive oil
3-4 oz   goat cheese

Instructions:
-------------
Boil potatoes until done but still firm. Mix all other ingredients except goat cheese in a blender. Drain potatoes, stir in goat cheese, then pour sauce over and mix. Serve immediately, preferably with either bread or tortillas to wipe up the last of the sauce. (Kim and I almost fought over it...)

Note:
This is quite hot, but awfully good. The achiote, lime juice, and habanero work very nicely together, and the potatoes offset a lot of the fire. We served it with something simple like either a roasted chicken or shark in lime juice (see yesterday's recipe for tiburon a la margarita).

*
Ingredients:
------------
4 tblsp    butter
3 tblsp    all-purpose flour
2 tsp      salt
1 tsp      black pepper
2 cups     milk
5          large potatoes, peeled and sliced into medium-thin slices
2          onions, peeled and chopped
1-1/2 to 2 lbs  * sharp cheddar cheese, cubed or sliced

Instructions:
-------------
In a medium saucepan, melt butter and add flour, salt and pepper. Pour in the milk and stir frequently till thickened. Set aside.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly butter a large casserole (3-1/2 to 5 quart).

Layer 1/4 of the potatoes, 1/4 of the onion, 1/4 of the cheese and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Repeat the next layer. Then, on top of the second layer, pour half the white sauce over (be a little reserved 'cuz you want the majority of the white sauce on top of the finished casserole). Then, again, repeat the next layer with potatoes, cheese, onion, salt and pepper. Repeat the final layer with same. Pour the remaining white sauce over the top, making sure you cover all. Sprinkle the final product with salt and pepper.

Cover and bake 1 hour. Then, remove the cover and bake for another hour. Don't worry if it gets a little dark on top.

For leftovers, I put some of the casserole in a microwaveable dish. Pour a little milk over and stir. Zap in the microwave on high until heated through!

* I prefer Tillamook medium sharp Cheddar cheese but I don't know what kind of cheese you can get where you are, but whatevr you do, DON'T use American or Velveeta! :)

2      eggs
salt
some   slices of ham (not the cooked ham)
250 g  dried plums (something like raisins but made of plums)
2 - 3  smoked sausages

Grate the potatoes and mix them with the flour and the eggs and the salt (not to much - because of the smoked sausages and the ham).

Take a castiron pot, put the ham slices in it and melt them out, after that take the slices out.

Now fill layer potatoes in the pot, then a layer dried plums, again potatoes, then slices from the smoked sausage and again potatoes.

Put the pot in the oven (225 Celsius) for 1 hour.

You can eat it warm or later cut in slices and baked in a pan or cold with Apfelkraut (apple syrup).

SAUTEED POTATOES IN LEMON AND GARLIC
====================================
(Serves 4)

Ingredients:
------------
4         large potatoes peeled
2 tblsp   oil
60 g      butter
grated rind of 1 lemon juice     of 1 lemon
2 tblsp   chopped parsley
3 cloves  garlic crushed

Instructions:
-------------
Cut potatoes into 0.5 cm. thick slices. Cook in boiling water for 4 mins. (or cover with microwave wrap and cook with 2 tsp water on high 2 mins.) Drain carefully and pat dry with a kitchen towel.

Heat oil and 40g butter in a heavy-based pan. Add enough potatoes to cover the base of pan and cook, shaking pan so potatoes do not stick. When brown, carefully remove form pan and repeat until all are browned (if necessary add a little oil and butter).

Combine remaining butter, lemon rind and juice, parsley and garlic in a pan and heat until butter turns pale brown. Add potatoes and toss until well coated.

Mixing oil and butter together prevents the butter from burning and removes the oily taste.

SLICED AND SPICY POTATIES
============================

Ingredients + Instructions:
---------------------------

Enough potatoes for 4 persons, and then 2 for luck. Scrub but don't peel. Slice thickly, approx half inch thick. Lay onto the oven tray, but make sure both sides have a little grease on them otherwise they will stick to the tray. You may need to add a little more oil (I use chili oil, but that may be a little hot for The Parents).

Keep an eye on these little suckers, as they will cook pretty quickly. The idea is that they will bubble up towards the end, and you will need to turn them over to get them all toasty on the other side as well. Sprinkle the potatoes and the chicken (make sure you turn them over at some stage in the cooking as well, but they should end up skin side up to make sure the skin doesn't get soggy) with the spice mix throughout the cooking time, to get the flavour through.

In the meantime, prepare a simple tossed salad with a simple dressing so as not to compete with the flavour of the chook. Serve with the salad and a good Turkish bread (one of the ones that you rip apart, or a crusty one if you want something a little more elegant).

SWEET POTATOES WITH GRAPEFRUIT
=================================

Ingredients:
------------

1 3/4 lb sweet potatoes
1 large grapefruit
3 tbsp unsalted butter
1/3 cup (firmly packed) light brown sugar
1/4 tsp   salt
2         eggs, well beaten

Instructions:
-------------
Preheat oven to 375F. Put the potatoes, unpeeled, in a large saucepan and cover with water. With a swivel-bladed vegetable peeler, peel the yellow zest from the grapefruit and put it in with the potatoes. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat and simmer until the sweet potatoes are just fork-tender, about 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, with a long-pronged fork or tongs, dip the grapefruit into the boiling potato water and blanch, turning constantly, for 30 seconds. Rinse the grapefruit briefly under cold running water to cool and peel off the white pith. Section the grapefruit and peel off the membranes over a bowl to catch the juice. Reserve all the juice and pulp; discard any seeds.

When the sweet potatoes are done, drain and let cool; discard the grapefruit zest. Peel the potatoes and put them into a food processor along with the grapefruit pulp and juice, the butter, brown sugar and salt. Puree until smooth. Add the eggs and mix to blend.

Pour the sweet potato mixture into a well-buttered, 6-cup souffle dish. Place in a pan of hot water and bake for 45 minutes, or until the center is set.

WINTER GREENS AND POTATOES (VEGETABLE HASH)
==============================================

Ingredients:
------------
1 lb     (1/2 kg) mixed greens, like mustard, kale, collards, etc.
2        medium-sized potatoes, scrubbed, quartered, and thinly sliced
2 tblsp  (20 mL) virgin olive oil
1 or 2   small dried red chilies, seeds removed, torn into pieces
2        medium sized fresh or canned tomatoes, chopped
2        garlic cloves, minced freshly grated or sliced hard cheese (Parm., Asiago, Romano) extra-virgin olive oil, to finish the dish
freshly ground pepper
Instructions:
-------------
Boil the potatoes for 5-7 minutes in salted water. Cook until tender, then remove with a strainer.

Wash well and then chop the greens, removing tough stems. Cook the greens until done in the potato water. Cook the tougher greens longer.

Warm the olive oil in a wide pan and add the chilies. When oil is hot, add potatoes, stir well and cook for 1 min. or so. Add greens, tomatoes, garlic. Continue cooking for 5 minutes or so, breaking up the potatoes and working everything together. It becomes somewhat muddled, but delicious. Taste for salt, add pepper and some cheese, and serve with a bit of extra-virgin olive oil threaded over the top.

mara
This is in reply to a request which was posted earlier asking for a rosti recipe from the interlaken district of Switzerland. I'm not sure if this is what Michael was looking for but the recipe is easy, tastes great and is something different you can do with the humble old potato.

Firstly, you will need about four medium to large potatoes (this is for four people). Peel them and boil them for ten minutes (the time may vary depending on the size of the potatoes, however the potatoes should remain hard. It's important not to boil them for too long.) Allow the potatoes to cool slightly then wrap in plastic wrap and refrigerator for at least one hour. Grate the potatoes (they should be quite sticky) add salt to taste then pat into a flat round and fry in butter for about 5-10 minutes on each side or until they are golden brown. Slice into wedges and serve.

I find that if you make them into smaller individual patties they are easier to turn when cooking and look nicer when served.

Cook the beans in boiling salted water until just tender; drain. Place half the beans in a greased ovenproof dish and place the eggs on top. Cover with the remaining beans.

Melt 40g/1 1/2oz/3 tablespoons of the butter in a pan, stir in the flour and cook gently, stirring, to make a roux. Remove from the heat and gradually add the milk, stirring. Return to the heat and bring to a boil. Cook, stirring, until thickened. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Pour the sauce over the beans and sprinkle on the breadcrumbs and cheese. Dot with the remaining butter, place in a preheated hot oven (220C/435F) and cook for 15 minutes until golden brown.

I have made this a couple times, it's really good.

1 pound dried black-eye peas, soaked overnight, or 2 1/2 cups fresh
1 tablespoon cold-pressed veggie oil
2 pounds winter squash, peeled, seeded and diced
2 large onions, chopped
4 ears corn, kernals cut off cob,
2 large tomatoes, sliced
1 small chile minced
3 to 6 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dried basil
1 tablespoon dried oregano
3 bay leaves
1/4 teaspoon whole peppercorns
1/2 teaspoon whole cumin seeds
1/2 teaspoon whole corriander seeds
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon chile powder

Drain the soaked peas. Place them in a large saucepan, cover with water and simmer for 20 minutes, should be about half cooked. Take off heat.

Heat oil in large skillet and add squash, onions, corn, tomatoes, chile, garlic, paprika and salt. Cook stirring for 10 minutes.

Add cooked veggies to the black eyed peas, add water to cover. Add basil, oregano, bay leaves, peppercorns, cumin and corriander seeds and chile powder. Cover and simmer for about 25 minutes, taste and correct seasonings.

25g/1oz butter                          2 tablespoons butter
75g/3oz Parmesan cheese, grated         3/4 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese sea salt                                coarse salt freshly ground black pepper             freshly ground black pepper
2 eggs, beaten                          2 eggs, beaten
3 tablespoons plain flour, sifted       3 tablespoons all-purpose flour, sifted

Wash and drain the spinach, sorrel, watercress and parsley. Place in a large pan of boiling water and boil for 4 minutes; drain. When cool enough to handle, press out as much moisture as possible and chop finely. Add the remaining herbs and place in a saucepan over low heat for several minutes, stirring, to dry out.

Beat the ricotta cheese to a smooth consistency and add to the puree with the butter, 25g/1oz/1/4 cup of the Parmesan cheese and salt and pepper to taste. Take the pan off the heat and stir in the eggs and flour. Beat until smooth. Pour into a cool shallow dish and leave in the refrigerator overnight.

Bring a large pan of lightly salted water to a boil. Form the green mixture into egg-shaped gnocchi, using 2 teaspoons, and roll them very lightly on a floured board. Drop them in batches in the pan, but do not crowd them.

When they float to the surface, after 4 to 5 minutes, lift them out with a slotted spoon and drain. Test one to make sure they are cooked through, then transfer to a warmed serving dish.

Sprinkle the gnocchi with a little Parmesan cheese; serve the remaining cheese separately. Serve with melted butter if you like.

Mike's Black Bean and Broccoli

In response to asking for recipes, I'm posting the ones I've discovered in the last couple weeks. (I AWLAYS experiment, I read the group just for letting ideas sift thru my head)

so, here's "Mike's Black Bean and Broccoli"

Note this fills a 12" skillet, you may want to make less.

Crush together into bowl, mix into paste:

1/2 can (15oz) black bean
7 clove garlic, crushed
1 T ginger, minced, crushed
1 T soy paste
1 oz soy sauce
1 T korean red pepper
9 African Red Devil chilies, crushed
1 T Laxmi brand chili powder (indian) water to thin

The differences in peppers are subtle, if you don't have access to a multitude of peppers, use 1 T paprika, 1 T red pepper, 5 HOT dried peppers

Cook in large skillet:

1 1/2 lb chicken or tofu
1 t oil.

At 1/3 done point, add 1 oz oriental vermicelli. When vermicelli is a little browned, add spice paste and water as needed.

When all done, flavored to taste, add:

1 1/2 bunch broccoli, chopped
2 green peppers, chopped

Heat just till veggies are hot.
Serve with kim chee on side.

Vegetarian Sushi Nori and variations

4          sheets nori, pretoasted (oriental or natural food market)
1 T.       umeboshi plum paste
1 T.       rice vinegar
1          clove garlic, smashed
1          slice ginger, smashed or grated
1.5 T      soy sauce
2          carrots
2          eggs
4          scallions
4 c.       cooked rice
1 T.       oil

Prepare ingredients: Heat oil in small skillet (about 20 cm diameter) on med. high. Slice carrots lengthwise into pieces about 0.5 cm diameter. Saute carrots, garlic, and ginger until carrots are just slightly cooked, about 2 minutes. Remove from pan. Stir together eggs and soy sauce. Add to pan, and cook until eggs are set. Do not disturb eggs while cooking, except to turn once. You should end up with an "omelette", fairly dry. When eggs are set and moderately firm, remove from pan. Cut into strips about 0.5 cm wide. Mix vinegar and plum paste into cooked, cooled rice.

Assemble nori rolls: Lay out a sheet of nori with the "rough" side toward you. Spread 1/4 of the rice across nori, leaving about 2 cm space on the far end and 1 cm space on the close end. Go all the way to the sides. Make an indentation in the rice about 2 cm from the close end. Lay 1/4 of the other ingredients in the indentation: carrots, eggs, and 1 scallion. Now roll up, beginning by folding over the 1 cm flap of nori closest to you, then rolling up from the folded edge. You want the roll to be nice and firm, so try to keep it tight as you go. To seal, run a slightly wet finger over the edge where the seam is. Place seam-side down. Slice crosswise into pieces 4-8 cm long (your preference). The orange carrot, yellow egg, and green scallion make a lovely center against the white (or brown) rice. Serve with soy and pickled ginger.

Notes: sticky rice works the best, but any kind will do. Use brown rice for the best nutritional value.
Variations: Once you have the basic method down, vary the center ingredients as you wish. This is my favorite combination, but other ideas are tofu strips, other types of cooked vegetables, fresh spices (strips of fresh dill, for example), etc.

Melt the butter in a pan; add the onion, carrot and celery and cook until softened. Add the tomato paste and tomatoes and cook for 5 minutes.

Put the eggs, parsley and salt and pepper to taste in a bowl and beat well. Stir in the nuts and vegetables.

Transfer to a greased 900ml/1 1/2pint/3 3/4 cup ovenproof dish, place in preheated hot oven (220C/425F) and bake for 30 to 35 minutes.

Turn out and garnish with onion rings, parsley, and cucumber slices. Serve hot with vegetables and sauce, or cold with salad.
RED BEANS WITH PECANS AND SAFFRON OVER WHOLE WHEAT SPAGHETTI

1 small can red beans pecan halves dry red wine saffron oregano thyme black pepper
olive oil
garlic

Drain a small can of red beans. (Pintos may substitute.) Save the juice in a small bowl and add a small amount of crumbled saffron to it so it marinates. Not too much, you want the taste to be subtle, not dominant.

Saute garlic in olive oil for a little bit, along with pecan halves and some crushed red chiles.

Add the drained beans and cook so the flavors mingle. Add quite a bit of oregano and less thyme and a pinch of black pepper. Add some dry red wine, don't be too shy.

Add in the saffron-flavored bean liquid and cook a few more minutes. The consistency should be thin but not like soup.

Serve over whole wheat spaghetti. Brown rice might also work.

CRISP-FRIED TOFU AND GREENS

Ingredients:
-------------
2 cakes of tofu, frozen overnight and thawed
1/2 cup water or vegetable stock
1 tsp cornstarch
1/2 cup cornmeal or cornstarch

Marinade:
---------
1/3 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup rice vinegar
1 tblsp finely grated gingerroot
2 cloves garlic, minced or pressed dash cayenne

Sauce:
------
3 tblsp soy sauce
1/4 cup dry sherry
2 tsp rice vinegar
2 tsp honey or brown sugar

Vegetables:
------------
3 tblsp oil
3 cloves garlic, minced or pressed
1 cup thinly sliced onion
6 cup mix of coarsely chopped pak choi, chard, kale, nappa cabbage or 9 cup chopped spinach

Instructions:
-------------
Gently squeeze as much liquid out of thawed tofu as possible. Cut tofu crosswise into 1/2-inch thick slices, then diagonally, to make 4 triangles.* Combine marinade ingredients and mix well. Arrange tofu triangles in one layer in a dish and cover with marinade. Allow to sit for at least 10 minutes to absorb the flavors. Prepare sauce mix by combining all ingredients in a small bowl. In a separate bowl mix the water or stock and the 1 tsp. cornstarch. Dredge marinated tofu pieces in cornmeal or cornstarch and fry over medium heat in 1/8 to 1/4 inch of oil, for 3-4 minutes on each side. Drain and keep warm in 200F oven.

Add leftover marinade to sauce mix. Heat 3 tblsp oil in a wok. Stir-fry garlic and onion until onion is tender. Add greens and continue stir-frying until just wilted but not mushy. Add sauce mix and cornstarch mix and stir-fry just until sauce is thickened. Add reserved fried tofu. Serve with rice.

* I cut the tofu into many more smaller triangles.

CUBAN TOFU SALAD
================

Ingredients:
-------------
1 lb     firm tofu
1/3 cup  nutritional yeast with salt, pepper, and paprika added to taste oil
1 lb     new potatoes
1        good-sized sweet potato or yam (6-8 inches long)
1        mild tasting apple (Golden Delicious is good), sliced or chopped
4        eggs, hard cooked, sliced
1/2 cup  green peas, cooked until still slightly firm
1/2      red onion, finely chopped
1 can    asparagus tips mayonnaise (about 3/4 c.)
about 2 tblsp dill weed vinegar, mustard, or "Durkee's special sauce"

Instructions:
-------------

2. Cut potatoes and sweet potatoes into 1" cubes. Boil until tender. Drain.

3. Mix together tofu, potatoes, apple, 3 of the eggs, peas, and onion. Add enough mayonnaise to make it creamy or to taste. Add dill weed, fresh if possible. Add enough vinegar, prepared mustard, or Durkee's Sauce (basically a mustard-vinegar sauce) to give it a tang.
4. Garnish with additional egg and asparagus spears. Sprinkle with paprika for beauty.

Variations and substitutions:
-----------------------------
Broil the tofu to reduce fat. It won't have a nicy chewy texture, though.
Substitute chicken for the tofu (as in the original recipe).
Substitute plain, non-fat yogurt for some of the mayonnaise to reduce fat content.

1/2 cup defrosted apple juice concentrate
1 cup fresh or frozen and partially defrosted berries

Instructions:
-------------
Blend all in food processor or blender til smooth. Serve in pretty cups or glasses, garnish with a whole berry and mint leaf.

SandyUs Chili
Source: Sandy Kaplan on rec.food.cooking (USENET) (made meatless by RFD)

Ingredients
1/3 cup oil
3 med. onions, chopped
2 stalks celery, chopped
4 cloves garlic, minced
1 bell pepper, chopped
1 jalapeno pepper, minced
2 lbs. tofu chunks
2 T. each ground red chilis, cumin, oregano
1 bay leaf
Instructions
Saute first five ingredients in oil until limp. Add tofu and saute until browned. Mix the spices together in a bowl and sprinkle into the pot. Mix thoroughly. Add water, tomatoes and tomato paste. Stir. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer for 2 hours, stirring occasionally. If desired, at this point, add the kidney beans. Taste and correct seasoning. The addition of 1 tsp. to 1 T. of cayenne pepper can make this gradually more spicy. As the recipe reads, it's fairly tame. NOTE: The ground chilis are NOT chili powder. Most chili powder is made up of a combination of chilies, oregano, cumin, salt and garlic. If chili powder is all you can find, then you will have to readjust the cumin and oregano amounts.

If you have a good veggie base around, it is easy. I make one about every 2 weeks. Unfortunately, I don't do milk any more so this recipe is a thing of the past for me, but it used to hit the spot.

to make 2 cups or so...
Saute small onions and 4-5 mushrooms and 1 clove garlic in butter (or just heat up some butter if you want it plain.. I like onions)

When they soft, add about 2 tblsp flour and mix it around until it is absorbed.

Pour on 1-1.5 cups veggie broth and stir. When that starts to warm up, pour a cup or less of cream or milk in and stir. Let boil stirring alot in the beginning to keep it from lumping. and voila! The amount of flour is kinda if-y. I like it thick, and usually end up adding more flour later on in the process to make it thicker.

Peace,
kareema

Dan, there are several veggie sausages on the market, check your health food store, you could any of these in place of or addition to the mushrooms.

1 pound mushrooms
1 onion
2 - 3 tablespoons flour
2 milk, dairy or soy
1/3 cup dry white wine vegetable oil salt/pepper sage thyme

slice 1 pound mushrooms slice one onion, thinly saute veggies in 2 tablespoons vegetable oil or 1/2 cup white wine if you prefer fatfree add 1 teaspoon of sage, more if you like it, and 1 teaspoon thyme
salt and pepper to taste

when onions are translucent and mushrooms have given up their juice add flour, cook a couple of minutes stir in wine if youo haven't already, add milk a bit at a time till desired consistency is acheived.
Add a bit of yogurt if you like it creamier

for a richer color and flavor, add a dash of soy or Bragg's Aminos

Serve over biscuits, rice, potatoes, noodles, whatever.

Vegetarian Stuffed Grape Leaves (Dolmas)

From: dpc47852@uxa.cso.uiuc.edu (Daniel Paul Checkman)
Date: 14 Sep 1993 21:40:10 GMT
Cross-indexed Vegetarian, Greek

How about this Dolma recipe from _Try 'em... You'll Like 'em... Even More_, which is a cookbook published by Congregation Beth David Sisterhood. Anyhow, Mrs. Leitner has a recipe with no meat in it. This is being printed without permission, but I at know her and I'm sure she'd be honored to have her recipe posted here:

0.5 c. veggie oil
4 medium onions (chopped)
1 c. uncooked rice
1 c. parsley (minced)
0.5 c. raisins
0.5 c. tomato sauce
1 c. water
0.75 tsp. allspice
0.5 tsp. pepper
Grape leaves
2 tsp. salt (or less/ to taste)

Saute onions in the oil until browned. Add rice and cook on a low heat for 20 minutes (covered), stirring occasionally. Add all other ingredients (except grape leaves, of course) and cook for 5 minutes. When it has cooled a little, use approx. 1 tsp. of filling per grape leaf and roll up, as for a burrito. The filling should be totally enclosed. To cook the "raw" dolmas, line a large pot with grape leaves and arrange the dolmas in the pot. Put a plate on top to keep them from floating up, and cover with water. Simmer for about 1 hour.

Mrs. Leitner goes on to mention that these can be served hot (with or without yogurt) or as a cold appetizer. Basically it's the same recipe as for stuffed cabbage, except there is no meat or cabbage. I've also tried dolmas elsewhere that leave out the raisins and tomato sauce, and sometimes add pine nuts to the mixture, but they are usually a bit more bland.

Good Luck,

amyl
I just made these the other night, and they were quite good. I started with this recipe, from The Old World Kitchen, and basically eyeballed and fiddled until I had something I liked. I'll note the recipe and then note my changes:

grape leaves, fresh or bottled
1 cup uncooked white rice
1/4 cup olive oil
1/2 lb onion, minced
1/2 cup raisans
(1 tsp coriander, which was my addition to this) juice of 2 lemons

Heat half the olive oil, fry onions until soft, add rice and stir to coat. Pour on a glass of water, add raisans and coriander. As water is absorbed, add more until the rice is firm but no longer crunchy. (I've found that the one glass method tends to produce crunchy/undercooked rice). Roll mixture into grape leaves (notes on rolling below) and pack like the bottom layer of a can of sardines (or like the 12 bunnies in the bed...) with the seam side down. When the pan is full, add one or two fingers of water (i.e. pour in water so the height of the water on the side of the pan is the width of one or two fingers) Squirt lots of lemon juice on the little suckers. Cover, put in 300F over and bake for 1 hour.

Now, my changes:
I use the bottled grape leaves, because I like the extra tang from the pickling juice. I also used green onions (both white and green) instead of regular onion, and used more of just about everything.

Heat olive oil, fry onions until soft, add rice and stir to coat. Pour on a glass of water, add raisans and coriander. As water is absorbed, add more until the rice is firm but no longer crunchy. (I've found that the one glass method tends to produce crunchy/undercooked rice). Roll mixture into grape leaves (notes on rolling below) and pack like the bottom layer of a can of sardines (or like the 12 bunnies in the bed...) with the seam side down. When the pan is full, add one or two fingers of water (i.e. pour in water so the height of the water on the side of the pan is the width of one or two fingers) Squirt lots of lemon juice on the little suckers. Cover, put in 300F over and bake for 1 hour. The tops may get a little dry during cooking, but will remoisten when stored in the refrigerator.
Note on rolling grapeleaves:

Place your grape leaf flat, stem end away from you, vein side up. Place about a tablespoon or so of mixture a tiny bit closer to you than the point where the two side leaves branch off. Fold the bottom over the stuffing toward you. Fold the side leaves in toward the center. The stuffing should now be surrounded on at least 3 sides. Roll toward you until you have a little cigar shaped packet.

Enjoy!

amy
This is my aunt's recipe. I think it's heavenly:

3 C. rice, soaked in boiling water and salt for 1 hr.
1/2 C. olive oil
Juice of one large lemon
1 bunch green onions, chopped
1 bunch parsley, minced
1 large, firm tomato, chopped
1 tsp. dried mint (optional)
salt and pepper to taste

Thoroughly rinse rice and drain well. Mix the rice and all the above ingredients in a bowl. If you are using fresh grape leaves blanch in boiling water for a minute. Stuff and cook. You could use torn grape leaves or slices of tomato to line the bottom of the pan so that the bottom layer of stuffed grape leaves won't scorch.
Veggie Burger with Nuts

From: cazeved1@cc.swarthmore.edu (Celina da Rocha Azevedo)
Date: Thu, 11 Nov 1993 16:57:51 -0500

Here's a tasty recipe I made with some friends last night. It originally came off this newsgroup, but that was a while ago, so I thought I'd repost it.

2 oz bulgur wheat
1/4 cup canola oil
1 1/4 cups finely chopped mushrooms
1 1/2 cups finely chopped carrots
2 cups finely chopped onions
2 tbl minced garlic
3/4 cup walnuts
1/2 cup sunflower seeds
1/2 cup sesame seeds
1/2 cup wheat germ
1/3 cup chopped parsley
2 tbl chopped dill
3 tbl tahini (sesame seed paste)
1 1/4 cups cooked chickpeas (if using canned garbanzo beans, make sure they're well-drained)
3 tbl tamari
3 tbl lemon juice
1/4 tsp cayenne pepper
1/2 tsp salt
3/4 tsp freshly ground pepper
3/4 tsp ground cumin

Place bulgur in a bowl of hot water, soak for 10 minutes or until tender, drain well.

Heat oil in a skilled, saute mushrooms, carrots, onions, garlic for 15 mins.

Grind walnuts and sunflower seeds, put into a bowl, add sesame seeds, bulgur, and wheat germ.

Mix sauteed vegetables with parsley, dill, tahini, chickpeas, tamari, lemon juice, cayenne, salt, pepper, and cumin until blended (small lumps ok). Add to the sesame-bulgur mixture, mix well. A potato masher is useful at this stage.

Chill thoroughly to firm the mixture (at least 1 hour in the freezer, more in the refrigerator).

Shape into patties, pat with oil, cook 4 minutes on each side, flip carefully with a Wide spatula to keep from falling apart. Serve on toasted...

rolls with slices of tomato, sprouts, cucumber, yogurt.

Serves 8 to 10, depending upon size of patties/rolls.

these juccini variations are all authentically greek (or turkish, or lebanese- at any rate, they're from our corner of the mediterranean!!)

the first one is one of my favourites, all veggo, lots of oil, served at room temperature or cold- perfect summer dish

Contents

- Briami
- Lathera
- Fried Zuchinni

Briami

5-6 large zuccini, cut in 1 in. cubes
3-4 medium potatoes, cut in similar cubes
2 eggplants (the purple, zuccini look-alike) cut in cubes
1 can stewed tomatoes
3-4 cloves garlic crushed
1 onion , cut in large chunks
a couple of bay-leaves
1/2 cup oil (preferably olive, but any kind will do)
a dash of nutmeg, thyme
salt and pepper

arrange (really throw in!) all the ingredients in your baking pan, and give them a good mix (another name for this dish is TOURLOU, i.e. mix-mix)
and bake for about 1 hour at a medium heat oven keep adding a touch of water to keep the stuff from frying allow to cool before eating-serve with a generous amount of oil and juices and with some bread to clean up the plate!

Lathera (translates to THE OILY DISH)
the following is a variation of the above theme, different presentation the veggoes come out crispier this way

4-5 medium size zuccini, cut in 1/4 in. disks
3-4 medium potatoes, cut in 1/4 in. disks
1-2 medium onions, sliced in thick rings
1-2 medium tomatoes, sliced in 1/4 in. disks
6-7 cloves garlic, peeled and whole
1/2 cup olive oil (or any other oil)
1/2 cup chopped parsley
salt and pepper
2 tblspoons oregano (save for the end!)

arrange in loose layers in the baking tray. try and keep the onion rings at the bottom of the pan, they get nice and crispy, and the tomatoes go at the top of the assembly, to let the juices drain down onto the veggoes
bake for about 1 hour, at medium oven the oregano should be added a few minutes before taking the tray out of the oven- burnt oregano loses its flavour, and has a bitter taste
allow to cool before eating

Fried Zuchinni

for the batter:
1 egg (beaten)
1/3 cup milk
1 cup flour
salt, pepper,
water if needed

stir batter ingredients until batter is smooth- if it's too thick add water- otherwise add flour- i get it to where it kinda sticks to the fork

for the juccini
5-6 juccini- cut either steak fries style, or in 1/4 in. disks

dip juccini in batter

=====

Ingredients:
-----------
5-6 large zucchini, cut in 1 in. cubes
3-4 medium potatoes, cut in similar cubes
2 eggplants (the purple, zucchini look-alike) cut in cubes
1 can stewed tomatoes
3-4 cloves garlic crushed
1 onion, cut in large chunks
a couple of bay-leaves
1/2 cup oil (preferably olive, but any kind will do)
a dash of nutmeg, thyme
salt and pepper

Instructions:
-------------
Arrange (really throw in!) all the ingredients in your baking pan, and give them a good mix (another name for this dish is TOURLOU, i.e. mix-mix) and bake for about 1 hour at a medium heat oven.

Keep adding a touch of water to keep the stuff from frying. Allow to cool before eating. Serve with a generous amount of oil and juices and with some bread to clean up the plate!

CORN STUFFED ZUCCHINI
=======================

Ingredients:
-------------
4 medium zucchini
1 1/2 cups fresh corn kernals
1 small onion chipped
1 tsp seasoned salt
1/2 tsp salt
1/8 tsp pepper
2 tsp margarine
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese

Instructions:
-------------
Cut off ends of zucchini. Cook unpeeled zucchini whole in small amount of boiling water about 5 minutes. Cut in half lengthwise. Carefully remove insides leaving 1/4" shell. Chop removed pulp finely. Put pulp, corn, onion, seasoned salt, salt and pepper in melted butter in a skillet and cook, stirring occasionally, until the mixture thickens, about 10 minutes. Add parsley. Put zucchini shells in shallow baking dish and fill with corn mixture. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake uncovered in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. 4 servings.

I got this out of the local newspaper – I usually use about double the amount of cheese called for. Also, depending on what you call medium zucchini I found that this recipe is pretty much 4 servings of a main dish and halving the recipe works as a side dish. Enjoy!

=========

Ingredients:
-------------
4-5 medium size zuccini, cut in 1/4 in. disks
3-4 medium potatoes, cut in 1/4 in. disks
1-2 medium onions, sliced in thick rings
1-2 medium tomatoes, sliced in 1/4 in. disks
6-7 cloves garlic, peeled and whole
1/2 cup olive oil (or any other oil)
1/2 cup chopped parsley
2 tblsp oregano (save for the end!)
salt and pepper

Instructions:
-------------
Arrange in loose layers in the baking tray. Try and keep the onion rings at the bottom of the pan, they get nice and crispy, and the tomatoes go at the top of the assembly, to let the juices drain down onto the veggoes.

Bake for about 1 hour, at medium oven. The oregano should be added a few minutes before taking the tray out of the oven - burnt oregano loses its flavour, and has a bitter taste. Allow to cool before eating.

STUFFED ZUCCHINI
------------------

Ingredients:
------------

4-6 medium zucchini
1 tomato
2 tblsp boiled grains
1 tblsp grated cheese
1/2 tblsp bread-crumbs
1 egg (may be omitted or replaced with soy flour)
garlic
onion olives
olive oil
spices: ground cloves, salt and pepper herbs: parsley, basil, chives

Instructions:
-------------
Cut zucchini lengthwise and core them until they look like a boat.

Finely cut tomatoes, zucchini cores, garlic, onions and olives and boil them together in a pan with a little olive oil until you have a sauce. This should take about 10-15 minutes.

Mix sauce together with boiled grains, grated cheese, bread-crumbs and (optionally) a beaten egg. Add finely minced herbs and season to taste with salt, pepper and ground cloves.

Fill the zucchini boats with this sauce and put them in an oven proof pan. Bake at medium heat in the oven until done (about 20 minutes).

It tastes even better when you add a lot of the following tomato sauce in the pan.

Tomato Sauce:

---

6 tomatoes
100 ml olive oil
1 paprika (bell pepper)
2 potatoes, finely grated
1-2 tblsp finely cut vegetables (eg. potatoes, celery, zucchini, eggplant) cream (if you like)
1 clove
1 tblsp flour
bay leaves
herbs: basil, rosmarin, thyme, sage spices: chili pepper, curry, salt

Instructions:

---

First roast the spices and herbs in the oil, then add the vegetables. Steam it a bit and add a little water. Boil on low heat, and stir in flour just short before the other ingredients are done. Now boil until it is done.

If you like it, you might add a little cream.

Take zucchini slices and dredge through flour, egg and bread crumbs. When fully coated fry them in a heavy pan with olive oil (about a 1/4 inch deep) Until browned and very tender. You may have to change oil after about 10 slices otherwise it starts smoking and you end up with nasty burnt tasting zucchini.

After all has been fried, coat a lasagne pan with a small amt of sauce then layer it such: zucchini, sauce, mozzarella. Repeat. Last layer should be both cheeses. Cover with plastic wrap and let sit in fridge for about 3 to 4 hours to let flavors marry.

Then take wrap off and cover with foil and bake for 35 to 40 min at 350 f.

8 tblsp olive oil
salt

It is better to prepare the garlic sauce in advance because it is served cold together with the hot zucchini.

EGGPLANT FANS

Ingredients:
------------
3 medium sized eggplants, ends trimmed
2 large, firm tomatoes, halved lengthwise, cored and thinly sliced
1/3-1/2 cup olive oil (75 to 125 ml)
1 large onion, finely chopped
4 garlic cloves, thinly sliced
4 tender artichokes
1/2 cup small pitted black olives, rinsed (125 ml)
2 bay leaves, crumbled
1 tsp mixed dried thyme, oregano and savory (5 ml)
Salt and pepper

Instructions:
-------------
Split the eggplants lengthwise. Place the halves, split side down, on a chopping board, and cut each half lengthwise into 1/2 inch (1 cm) thicknesses, leaving the slices attached at the stem end to form fans. Slip tomato slices into the slits of the eggplant halves. Oil a large gratin dish with 2 tablespoons (30 ml) of the olive oil, and scatter half the onion and garlic over the bottom. Arrange the eggplant halves, gently forced together, side by side in the dish.

Pour the remaining olive oil into a bowl. Pare the artichokes to the hearts and quarter them, removing the chokes; place the hearts immediately into the oil, turning them around to coat them completely and protect them from contact with air. Force the quartered artichoke hearts and the olives into the crevices around the eggplant fans. Fit in the bay leaf fragments here and there, scatter the remaining onion and garlic over the surface, and sprinkle with the herbs, salt and pepper. Press everything into place to form as regular a surface as possible. Dribble the oil left over from the artichokes over the entire surface, adding a bit more if necessary. Place a sheet of aluminum foil loosely over the surface and bake for about 1 1/2 hours, starting with a very hot oven, preheated to 450F (230C), and turning the heat down to about 350F (180C) after 10 minutes or so.

NUKED ARTICHOKE
================

Instructions:
-------------
Take an untrimmed artichoke and wash it out by running water through it and shaking it out a few times. Cut the stem back to about 1 cm below the base -- you don't want to trim as much as you would if you were steaming. Leave the outer leaves and tops on.

Put one choke in a container, base down. I just use the plastic bag I brought it in. Nuke on high for 4 minutes [your milage may vary], maybe turning it if your microslave is uneven. Maybe let it sit a while to steam a bit more. Now throw away about one or two layers of leaves and eat the rest. For guests, you could trim the top now, and if you suspect that any bitter bits are left in the stem, trim that as well.

PUFF PASTRY CALZONE WITH CHEVRE & ARTICHOKE HEARTS
==================================================

Ingredients:
------------
1 pkg frozen pastry shells (6), defrosted
8 oz. Chevre cheese, crumbled or feta cheese
1/4 cup cut up onion slices
8 ounces marinated artichoke hearts, drained & chopped
2 Tablespoons sliced black olives grated paremasan cheese

Instructions:
-------------
Stack 3 pastry shells together & roll them out to measure 8" (this makes a big one you can do it like this & have people cut off a slice or make little ones).

Place pastry on a lightly greased cookie sheet.

When you defrost shells don't let them get too soft - just so they are still chilled.

Combine the next 4 ingredients & place in center of pastry leaving a 1" border along the edge. (you can also add some garlic to the mixture)
Roll out the remaining shells in the same fashion & place over the filling. Press & sel the edges with the tines of a fork. Scallop them in a decorative fashion. Pierce top with fork & brush tip with a little water & sprinkle with a little grated parmesan cheese.

You can either bake it now or put it in the fridge until the next day if need be.

Bake in a 400 oven for about 25 minutes or until top is a deep golden brown. place in a platter & cut into wedges to serve. Serves about 6.

If you assemble this in advance that's fine but don't bake it until just before serving.

SHRIMP-STUFFED ARTICHOKE

Ingredients:

---

6 medium artichokes
1 1/2 lb raw small chrimp
8 tblsp lemon juice
4 3/4 tsp salt
1/2 tsp tarragon
1/4 tsp ground black pepper
1 cup mayonnaise

Instructions:

---

To prepare the artichokes, remove the stems, cut one-half inch off the tops and snip off the sharp tips of each leaf. Then cook, tightly covered, in plenty of boiling water to which you have added two tablespoons of the lemon juice and two teaspoons of salt, until the base can be pierced with a fork, 30 to 40 minutes. Drain well.

To cook shrimp, bring one quart water to a boil, add one tablespoon lemon juice and two teaspoons salt. Add shrimp and bring the water to a boil again. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, three to five minutes or until shrimp have turned pink. Reserve one-half cup of the water the shrimp were cooked in. Then drain, peel and clean the shrimp. Reserve 18 shrimp for garnish. Place remaining shrimp in a blender with the reserved liquid, the remaining five tablespoons of lemon juice, seasonings, including the remaining three-quarter teaspoon of salt, and one cup of mayonnaise. Blend until the shrimp are broken up. Chill the mixture in the refrigerator, where it will become considerably thicker, until ready to fill artichokes.

Note:
-----
To insure that this dish looks as attractive as it should, you must remove the chokes of the artichokes very carefully. After you have spread out the center leaves, pull out the very innermost ones -- they will be pale in color and rather thorny -- then scrape away the fuzzy choke with a spoon. If it doesn't come easily, cut around it with a grapefruit knife. Don't overcook the artichoke lest it fall apart when you handle it.

Here are two Russian beet recipes  (I'm not sure, that their origin is in Russia, but they are pretty popular there)
All quantities are approximate.

Vinegret (Beet Salad)

Boil a couple average beet roots, potatoes and carrots.
Peel them and cut in small cubes. Cut finely 1 raw onion (you may soak it in cold water for a while before this, if you want less sharp taste). Cut into cubes 1-2 sweet pickles.
Mix everything together and add olive oil. Add also a little bit of salt and vinegar to your taste.

Svekolnik (Beet Soup)  Perfect for hot weather!

You will need a bunch of beets with greens for this soup.
Peel the beet roots and boil until almost done. (You may add some vinegar or lemon acid to the water, to make color more deep).
Add chopped beet greens and continue boiling until greens are soft.
Shred beet roots (not too finely), cool down the soup and put in the refrigerator. Boil 1-2 eggs, cut them and a cucumber into small pieces, mix and store separately. Serve cold. Before serving, add eggs and cucumber to the soup (as much as you like; for me 2 eggs make 3-4 servings).
Add also some plain yogurt or light sour cream to your taste (In Russia we use kefir; I saw it in health food stores, but never tasted, so I don't know if it's the same). It might be possible to use something non-dairy instead, I never tried.

Enjoy!

Two Beet Recipes

From: jgenyuk@magnus.acs.ohio-state.edu (Julia V Genyuk)

Take the beets (3 or 4) and just cut their leaves. Then wash them and put in a pan. (An old one would be fine) Finally broil or bake in the oven (eletrical or gas oven, don't use a microwave) for about 2 hours at 400 degrees. After the cooking, clean them pulling up the skin (like a boiled potato) cut in little stripes or little pieces and dress with salt, vinegar and oil. That's it.

Let me know if you like it.
I was forgetting to tell you that you can keep the leftovers into refrigerator.
I saw a request for Boston Baked Beans a little while back. This is the recipe my mom has used for years. Note that this is one dish that is often even better as leftovers than the first time around!

BOSTON BAKED BEANS

1 pound pea or navy beans water
2 tsp. dry mustard
pepper
1 tsp. salt
3 onions, quartered
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup molasses
2 Tbsp. sweet pickle juice or 2 Tbsp. vinegar with 1/8 tsp. each of ground cinnamon and cloves
1/4 pound salt pork

Pick over beans and wash. Cover with 3 cups of water and soak 8 hours or overnight. Then add 2 cups of water, mustard, 1/4 tsp. pepper and next 5 ingredients. Boil, covered, about 1 hour or until skins start to wrinkle. Start heating oven to 250 degrees F. Cut salt pork into cubes and place beans over pork in beanpot. Sprinkle with pepper and bake 6-8 hours or until tender. When beans are two-thirds baked, add about 3/4 cup water or just enough to cover. Uncover last half hour.

VARIATION: All of the cooking can be accomplished in an electric cooker, for those who don't want to leave an oven unattended all day. This is how my mom generally does it.

BOSTON BAKED BEANS - Serves 4

12 oz. (350 g) haricot beans
1 large onion
1 tablespoon oil
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons black treacle [I've heard that some yanks use molasses]
1/4 pint (150 ml) tomato juice (or the liquid from a can of tomatoes)
2 tablespoons tomato puree
2 teaspoons brown sugar (presumably the really brown, not raw?)
1/2 pint (275 ml) [not my conversions :) ] unsalted stock

Soak, drain and rinse the beans, then cook them in fresh water until they are almost tender, and drain them again.

Set the oven to 275 F (140 C), mark 1. Peel and slice the onion. Heat the oil in a flameproof casserole and fry the onion for about 5 minutes, then add the rest of the ingredients and bring the mixture up to the boil.
Cover the casserole and put it into the oven; cook for about 4 hours, stirring occasionally. "These beans are lovely served with hunks of hot whitewheat bread, or garlic bread."

well i don't use brown sugar but here's what i use.
I usually measure by eye and taste real butter, white sugar, cinnemon, nutmeg and about a tsp of vanilla flavoring.

peel and cut sweet potatos or yams put in pot cover half way with water add sugar to taste, about a tsp of cinnemon, nutmeg, vanilla flavoring and butter. boil until tender about 30mins (maybe less) then you transfer to a baking dish with a little juice sprinkle with marshmellow and bake until marshmellows melt. I usually skip the marshmellows and we eat them after they are boiled.

Choucroute Garnie

From: arielle@taronga.com (Stephanie da Silva)
Date: Thu, 15 Jul 1993 10:55:15 GMT

3 pounds sauerkraut
1/2 pound chunk bacon
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup carrots, thinly sliced
1 cup onions, thinly sliced parsley sprigs
1 bay leaf
6 peppercorns
10 juniper berries (or 1/4 cup gin)
1 1/2 cups beef bouillion
3/4 cup water
1 cup dry white wine
salt
1 2 to 3 pound smoked pork butt
1 kielbasa
4 knockwurst
3 smoked bratwurst
3 unsmoked veal sausages

Drain the sauerkraut. Place in a large bowl and cover with cold water. Soak for 20 minutes, changing the water twice. Drain again. Then take up large handfuls and squeeze out as much water as possible. Set aside.

Remove the rind from the bacon and cut into strips about two inches long and one half inch wide. Blanch bacon by placing in a saucepan and covering with two quarts of cold water. Bring to a boil, then simmer 10 minutes. Drain. Melt the butter in a two and one half or three quart casserole.

Add the blanched bacon, carrots and onion and cook slowly, covered, for 10 minutes. Do not let the vegetables brown. Stir in the sauerkraut, breaking up any clumps in it. Cover and cook on top of the range slowly for 10 minutes. Preheat the oven to 325F. Tie the parsley, bay leaf, peppercorns, and juniper berries in cheesecloth, and bury them in the sauerkraut. Pour in the bouillion, water, wine and gin if you are using it. Add salt to taste. Continue cooking on top of hte stove until it comes to a boil, then place in the oven and Cook, covered, for 4 hours. Check now and then to be sure the sauerkraut is not too dry. If all the liquid has cooked away, add a little more bouillon or wine. The sauerkraut should just bubble.

Start the meat two and one half hours before serving. Place the pork butt in a pot, cover with cold water, and bring to a boil. Reduce the heat and simmer, covered, two hours. Start the sausages one hour before serving time. Place the kielbasa in a large pot with cold water to cover. Bring to a boil, then simmer, covered, 20 minutes. Add the knockwurst and smoked bratwurst to the kielbasa pot. Bring to a boil again, the simmer 10 minutes. Add the veal sausages and simmer 5 minutes longer. Turn off the heat and let stand 5 minutes more. Remove the herb bouquet before transferring the choucroute to a platter.
Crispy Eggplant Rounds

From: natalie@meaddata.com (Natalie Adams Bendure)
Date: Tue, 19 Oct 93 14:50:51 EDT
(Adapted without permission from "Fresh Ways with Italian Cooking")

2 eggs, slightly beaten (I use just the whites for less fat & calories) about 3/4 to 1 cup "Italian Style" Breadcrumbs (Breadcrumbs with a little basil, oregano, & parmesan cheese mixed in)

1 lb. of eggplant
1 tsp. of olive oil

Wash eggplant, remove top(s), and slice in 1/2 inch thick rounds. Spread the olive oil on a cookie sheet. Put the breadcrumbs in one bowl, and the eggs in another bowl. Dip the slices first into the eggs, allowing the excess to drip off back into the bowl, and then dip both sides into the breadcrumbs. Place on cookie sheet. Bake in 425 degree (F) oven for about 15 minutes, turn, and bake another 10 minutes, or until desired crispness.

(Just tried this last night, and it was excellent! Like eating "fried" appetizers without the fat and calories!!)

BABA GHANOUSH / EGGPLANT WITH TAHINI

Ingredients:
----------
3 large eggplants
2-4 cloves garlic, or to taste
Salt
1/2 cup tahini or less, depending on size of eggplants juice of 3 lemons, or more to taste
1/2 tsp ground cumin (optional)
2 tbsp finely chopped parsley
A few black olives or 1 tomato, thinly sliced, to garnish

Instructions:
-----------
Cook the eggplants over charcoal or under a gas or electric broiler (sear until skins are black and start to blister with the flesh soft and juicy, rub skins off under cold water taking care to remove any charred particles, then gently squeeze out as much of the bitter juice as possible).

Crush the garlic cloves with salt. Mash the eggplants with a potato masher or fork, then add the crushed garlic and a little more salt, and pound to a smooth, creamy puree. Alternatively, use an electric blender to make the puree.

Add the tahini and lemon juice alternatively, beating well or blending for a few seconds between each addition. Taste and add more salt, lemon juice, garlic, or tahini if you think it is necessary, and if you like, a little cumin.

Pour the cream into a bowl or a few smaller serving dishes. Garnish with finely chopped parsley and black olives, or with a few tomato slices. Serve as an appetizer with Arab or other bread, as a salad, or as a party dip.

BAIGAN BHARTA (MASHED EGG-PLANT)
================================

Cooking the eggplant:
---------------------

Poke the eggplants (say 2, medium sized ones) with a knife, and insert slivers of garlic in the slits. The eggplant can be roasted either in a conv. oven, a microwave, or ideally, on a slow charcoal grill. When they are done (they become kinda' limp), peel, and mash up the insides. Use a knife to cut up the long fibres.

Seasoning:
----------

In a wok, heat some oil, and add chopped onions, and chopped ginger. Fry till the onions are semi-browned, and then add the mashed eggplant. Add salt, and pepper to taste. Season with lots of chopped cilantro (coriander leaves). Since the eggplant is already cooked, you need not cook for long in the wok... just long enough to mix things up good. A tomato or two chopped fine, and added with the eggplant also tastes good.

Alternative sesoning:
Chop onions, ginger, tomatoes, and cilantro, and mix cold with the mashed eggplant, and a few table spoons of mustard oil. The mustard oil gives a nice tangy taste. Look for mustard oil in your nearest Indian grocery store. (Salt and pepper too.)

BENGALI EGGPLANT AND YOGURT WITH MUSTARD SEED
=============================================

Ingredients:
-------------

1 large eggplant--1 to 1 1/2 lb, tip cut off and cut into 1" cubes
1 1/2 tblsp black mustard seeds, powdered in a coffee grinder
1 cup+ water
1/4 tsp cayenne pepper
4-5 tblsp mustard oil
1 tblsp panch pharon mix (equal parts of whole cumin, fennel, fenugreek, mustard, kalunji seeds)
1 cup yogurt
1 1/2 tsp salt
sprinkle black pepper, cardamon powder (optional)

Instructions:
-------------

Soak ground mustard seed and cayenne in one cup of water. Cut up eggplant into cubes. Heat mustard oil, put in panch pharon mix and after a few seconds add the black mustard/cayenne water. This will splatter so have a cover ready. Add eggplant and cook. You will probably need to add additional water as the eggplant cooks to keep its level about the same, perhaps another cup. Cover it for the last ten minutes.

When the eggplant is cooked add a cup of yogurt and the salt, mix and heat up yogurt, but do not boil.

Sprinkle a tiny bit of black pepper and cardamon over the top if you want.

This dish also tastes good cold the next day.

Variation:
---------

Anasua Munshi tells me that in his grandmother's village they make this without the yogurt, substituting green chillis for cayenne and using only fennel for the panch pharon mixture.

BENGAN BARTHA
==============

Bake an eggplant in an oven 400 deg C for 30 to 40 minutes till it's cooked right through and no hard portions remain. It should be cooked to the core. The eggplant should be turned a few times so it cooks evenly on each side and the skin does not blister. When it's done it'll shrivel up a bit.

Bake 3 large tomatoes for 20 minutes at 350 deg C. till they cook right through.

In a deep pan heat a little mustard oil. Drop in a table spoonful of minced garlic and a table spoonful of minced ginger. Add a few thinly diced hot green chillies. Stir for a minute or so till the mix. is lightly browned. Now add in the cooked eggplant and tomatoes. Using a spatula crush the eggplant and tomatoes very well till they mix thoroughly. Simmer on low for 10 minutes. Add salt to your liking and add some chopped green coriander to the dish and stir.

The dish is ready to eat. It's eaten with Daal and Rice but I just eat it with hot rice. Enjoy and thank me.

--------------

Ingredients:
-------------
3         medium sized eggplants, ends trimmed
2         large, firm tomatoes, halved lengthwise, cored and thinly sliced
1/3-1/2 cup     olive oil (75 to 125 ml)
1         large onion, finely chopped
4         garlic cloves, thinly sliced
4         tender artichokes
1/2 cup     small pitted black olives, rinsed (125 ml)
2         bay leaves, crumbled
1 tsp       mixed dried thyme, oregano and savory (5 ml)

Salt and pepper

Instructions:
-------------
Split the eggplants lengthwise. Place the halves, split side down, on a chopping board, and cut each half lengthwise into 1/2 inch (1 cm) thicknesses, leaving the slices attached at the stem end to form fans. Slip tomato slices into the slits of the eggplant halves. Oil a large gratin dish with 2 tablespoons (30 ml) of the olive oil, and scatter half the onion and garlic over the bottom. Arrange the eggplant halves, gently forced together, side by side in the dish.

Pour the remaining olive oil into a bowl. Pare the artichokes to the hearts and quarter them, removing the chokes; place the hearts immediately into the oil, turning them around to coat them completely and protect them from contact with air. Force the quartered artichoke hearts and the olives into the crevices around the eggplant fans. Fit in the bay leaf fragments here and there, scatter the remaining onion and garlic over the surface, and sprinkle with the herbs, salt and pepper. Press everything into place to form as regular a surface as possible. Dribble the oil left over from the artichokes over the entire surface, adding a bit more if necessary. Place a sheet of aluminum foil loosely over the surface and bake for about 1 1/2 hours, starting with a very hot oven, preheated to 450F (230C), and turning the heat down to about 350F (180C) after 10 minutes or so.

When done, the stem ends of the eggplants should be soft to the touch. Serve as an hors d'oeuvre, at room temperature.

IMAM BAYILDI

Ingredients:
-----------
2 large eggplants
2 cups olive oil (the best quality you can afford)
1 large tomato
2 large onions
1 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup kosher salt
1 tbsp paprika
2 tbsp parsley
4-6 cloves garlic

Instructions:
-----------
Slice the eggplants in half and coat them with all but 3 tbsp of salt. Cover with paper towels and place a weight on them to drain. Let sit 15 minutes.
Dice tomato, onions and mince garlic. Saute until garlic is brown and onions are golden in 1/2 cup olive oil.

Add parsley, lemon juice, sugar, salt and paprika to taste to the tomato mixture. Cook until about the texture of jam.

Scoop out a hollow in the center of each eggplant half. Wipe away the salt. Place 2 of the eggplant halves face down in a skillet w/ half of remaining olive oil, cook until browned and olive olive oil is absorbed. Repeat using other halve and remaining oil.

Place the eggplant halves in a baking dish and fill the hollows with tomato mixture. Place in 400 degree oven for twenty minutes. Serve, garnished with paprika.

Alternately, the eggplant can be chopped and sautéed in chunks until soft and brown. In that case the baking step is omitted and the eggplant is simply mixed with the tomato mixture.

ROASTED EGGPLANT SOUP WITH MOZZARELLA CROUTONS
==================================================

Ingredients:
-------------
1.5 lb Japanese eggplant, halved lengthwise
1 red bell pepper, halved lengthwise and seeded
4 tbsp extra-virgin olive oil
2 onions, unpeeled and halved lengthwise
3 plum tomatoes, halved lengthwise
8 garlic cloves
1 tbsp unsalted butter
3 fresh thyme sprigs, chopped fine
3 fresh oregano sprigs, chopped fine
3 fresh basil sprigs, chopped fine
8 cups chicken broth
1 bay leaf, crumbled
12 1/4-inch-thick slices of French bread, toasted
3/4 lb goat's milk mozzarella, grated coarsely

Instructions:
-------------
In a bowl coat the eggplant and the bell pepper lightly with 1 tablespoon of the oil and season the vegetables with salt and pepper. In a foil-lined roasting pan arrange the eggplant, skin sides down, the bell pepper, skin sides up, the onions, cut sides down, and the tomatoes, cut sides down, and roast the vegetables in the upper third of a pre-heated 400degree F. oven for 10 minutes. Put the garlic in the pan near the tomatoes, roast the vegetables for 30 to 40 minutes more, or until the bell pepper is charred, and let them cool. Remove the skin from the bell pepper and the onions and coarsely chop the eggplant, the bell pepper, the onions, and the garlic.

In a large kettle melt the butter with the remaining 3 tablespoons oil over moderately high heat, add the chopped vegetables including the garlic, the tomatoes, the thyme, the oregano, the basil, and enough of the broth to just cover the mixture, and bring the mixture to a boil. Add the bay leaf and simmer the soup for 30 minutes, or until it is thickened slightly. In a blender or food processor puree the soup in batches, transferring it as it is pureed to the cleaned kettle (the soup will be thick and textured, flecked with black bits of the eggplant), and heat it with the remaining broth over moderately low heat until it is heated through.

Arrange the bread slices on a baking sheet, sprinkle them with mozzarella, and broil the croutons under a preheated broiler about 4 inches from the heat for 3 to 4 minutes, or until the cheese is golden. Ladle the soup into 6 bowls and top each serving with 2 croutons. Serves 6.

(Also, instead of full slices as croutons, after broiling, with a sharp knife the toasted bread can be cut into smaller croutons and sprinkled onto the soup)

I have made it many times and the felafel are great.

4 cups cooked chickpeas (2 cups, soaked 1.5 hours, boiled until very soft)
2 beaten eggs
3 cloves garlic (crushed)
1/2 cup each, finely minced, celery and scallions
1/2 tsp ground cumin
3 Tbs tahini
1/2 tsp tumeric
3 Tbs flour
1/4 tsp cayenne, dash black pepper
1.5 tsp salt

Mash chickpeas well (make sure they are cooked well enough to be mashable).
Combine with other ingredients. Chill well.
With floured hands, make the batter into one-inch-diameter balls.
Dust each one lightly with flour.
Heat a two inch pool of oil in heavy skillet to 365 degrees.
Deep fry felafel until golden brown, serve immediately.

My Modifications:

I usually use 1–2 tsp of cayenne because I like them spicy.
I usually heat the oil in my wok and then drop the batter into the wok by spoonfuls. Don't put too many in the wok at a time or the temp.

Fried Plantains

From: Nancy Whitney
Date: Mon, 1 Nov 93 9:47:47 EST

This is an easy and tasty way of preparing plantains;

2 Pantains
Oil for frying

Cut plantains into about 1/2 inch slices. Fry for several minutes in hot oil, until slices begin to turn golden (not too dark), and they are beginning to get tender. They do not need to be really soft at this point.

Take slices out of oil and drain on a paper towel. Move to a sturdy surface like a cutting board, and smash the slices down with the bottom of a cup (like a juice glass or some such). The point is to make them smash down to about 1/2 their original height, not to get them really thin.

Throw back into hot oil and fry again, until they get more tender, maybe 1-2 minutes on each side. Take out of oil, drain, sprinkle with salt and serve in place of potatoes.

Lentils

From: kasserra@helix.nih.gov (Claudia Kasserra)
Date: Sun, 14 Nov 1993 12:33:02 -0500

Someone asked for lentil recipes. This is my mothers recipe, I can never get enough of it. Its fast and inexpensive.

-approx. 4 cups lentils
-4 slices bacon
-Polish sausage (or Farmer's etc.)
-1 large onion, chopped
-1 bag carrots, chopped
-2-4 bouillon cubes
-1/2 cup vinegar

Saute onion and chopped bacon in oil. I like to do this in a pressure cooker, you will know the reason in a moment. Add chopped sausage, lentils, bouillon cubes, and about six cups of water. Heat mixture thoroughly, stirring occasionally, adding water as the lentils soak it up so that you have a stew consistency. Add 1/4 cup of the vinegar and cook for about 1 hour. This is where the pressure cooker comes in. If you don't have one, you'll have to continue cooking until the lentils are soft, about 2 1/2 hrs.
If you do have a pressure cooker, after the 1 hr regular cooking, pressure cook the mixture for about 15 min. Season to taste with salt, pepper and the rest of the vinegar. Oops, add the carrots after 1 hr of cooking. Terrific on a cold night!

Claudia

These instructions for curing olives are from _The Food of Greece_ by Vilma Liacouras Chantiles (Simon & Schuster, 1975):

Collect the olives as ripe as possible (late November in Greece). Slash or stamp each olive with the side of knife or board to make an opening, then soak in cold water in earthenware or glass containers for 10 days, changing the water daily. Soak in a brine solution for 24 hours, then wash off the brine and soak for 24 hours in vinegar. Drain. Store in jars in olive oil. This method will preserve olives indefinitely. (If sourer olives are preferred, add a little vinegar to the oil).

Red Beans and Rice #1

1 pound red beans, soaked overnight
1 medium onion, chopped
1 bunch of green onions, chopped
7 cloves of garlic, chopped
1/2 cup parsley
1 rib celery, chopped
1/2 cup ketchup
1 bell pepper, seeded and chopped
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons tabasco sauce
2 bay leaves
1 teaspoon thyme
salt and pepper
1 pound smoked sausage cut into 1 inch pieces
1 pound pickled pork, rinsed and cut into cubes

Cooked Rice

Drain the beans. Put them in a large heavy pot and add 3 quarts of fresh water. Cover and simmer for one hour or until the beans are tender. Watch that the water does not boil down too far. The beans must be covered with water at all times. Add the rest of the ingredients, except for the rice. Add more water to cover if needed. Simmer for 1 to 1 1/2 hours or until the liquid has thickened. Serve over rice.

RED BEANS AND RICE #2

4 servings
Red Beans and Rice

1 lb red beans
1 1/2 lb smoked sausage, sliced
1/2 lb smoked ham shanks
1 large onion chopped
1 green pepper, seeded and chopped
1 celery stalk, chopped
1 garlic clove, finely chopped
1 t dried thyme, crumbled
1 t ground pepper
1/2 t ground sage
1 bay leaf
Pinch of ground red pepper
Salt
Freshly Cooked Rice

Place beans in Dutch oven and cover generously with water. Let soak for 30 minutes. Add all remaining ingredients to beans except salt and rice. Bring to boil over medium heat. Reduce heat to medium-low, cover, and simmer until beans are tender, adding more water if necessary, about 2 1/2 hours. Add salt to taste. Remove ham bones. Remove about 3 Tablespoons of beans from mixture and mash to a paste. Return bean paste to mixture and stir. Simmer 15 more minutes and then serve hot over the rice.

Red Beans and Rice #3

1 pound red kidney beans
1 meaty ham bone
2 large onions, chopped
1 bell pepper, chopped
2 ribs celery, chopped
2 cloves garlic, finely chopped
Salt and pepper to taste ( use Tony's if possible )
pinch of sugar
1 bay leaf ( optional )
2 pounds Owen's spicy sausage links
1/4 cup parsley, chopped
Cooked rice

Soak beans overnight, rinse. Cover with water and cook with ham bone ( fat trimmed off ), onion, bell pepper, celery, salt, pepper, sugar, and bay leaf. While beans are cooking, boil sausage in skillet. Drain, fry until crisp, and set aside. Cook beans until fork tender ( 1 - 2 Hrs ); then add fried sausage. JUST before serving, remove bay leaf and add parsley. Serves 8 ( small servings ) and freezes well.

Serve with corn bread and mustard greens to complete the mood.
Red Beans and Rice #4

( Shane's 40 min variety )

2 cans Red Beans ( black-eyed peas also work )
1/2 pound smoked sausage ( the smokier the better )
1 medium to large onion, chopped
1/2 bell pepper, chopped ( too much will make it bitter )
2 green onions ( if you have them )
1 rib of celery, chopped ( if you have it )
1 tsp minced garlic ( I usually get it in the little jar )
salt, pepper, red pepper, tabasco ( or just Tony's if you have it ) thyme and parsley ( if you have them )
a little beer ( if you're drinking one or have one handy )
a little vegetable oil uncooked rice

Rinse out the Red beans in their cans and fill the cans with water, set aside. Chop up all that needs to be chopped up ( including sausage ) and get out your trusty deep black iron skillet or pot. Put enough oil to wet the bottom of the pot and start frying the sausage. After about a 1 min or so, season the sausage really well with the salt and pepper ( esp pepper ). When the sausage is about 1/2 done, stir in the onions, bell pepper, and celery. Stir fry it all until the sausage is done and the vegetables are limp. ( push the sausage to the side of the skillet if it cooks too fast and focus on the vegetables ). Pour in the beans and water, and add about another can of water ( cover all the contents and leave burner at frying setting ). Add the garlic, a few shakes of tabasco, a little ( about 2 tablespoons ) beer, a pinch of thyme, and about 1/4 cup parsley. While the mixture comes to a boil, start the rice on another burner. Keep the Red beans at a raging simmer, and stir often. When the rice is done, the beans should be about done. Cook the beans down to the desired consistancy, and squash a few beans on the bottom for a more paste like texture. Serve beans over rice with a little more pepper sprinkled on top.
Serves 3.

RED BEANS AND RICE #5

1 pound of small red beans
1/2 pound of ham hocks or smoked hocks (optional) (can substitute polish sausage, if you want)
1 large yellow onion, peeled and chopped
3 stalks celery, chopped

Tablespoon parsley
1/2 green pepper, chopped
1-2 bay leaves
2 large cloves garlic, crushed
1/8 pound margarine
Pepper to taste
1 Tablespoon Worchestershire sauce
Tabasco to taste
Salt to taste
3 cups cooked white rice

Soak beans overnight in ample water. The next day, drain the water from the beans, and place in a heavy kettle. Add the ham, onion, celery, parsley, bay leaves, and garlic, and add water to the pot barely to cover the contents. Bring to a boil, and then turn to a simmer. Simmer, uncovered, for 2 hours, being careful that the beans do not stick or become too dry. You may have to add a little water.

After the initial two hours of cooking, add the margarine, pepper, Worcheshtershire, and Tabasco to the pot. Continue cooking for 1 more hour, this time with a lid on the pot and the heat quite low.

Correct the seasonings. You may wish to add a bit of salt, but do not add salt until this point because salt cooks out of the ham (if present) and will season the beans.

Serve over white rice. Pass additional Tabasco sauce for the brave!
Red Kale with Grated Coconut

From: Nita Goyal nita@CS.Stanford.EDU
Date: Fri, 15 Oct 93 13:07:59 -0700

This is a recipe for Red kale that I got from a friend. I am sending it without her permission but I am sure she will be happy to share it. The recipe comes from the Kerala region of India (south western coastal area). You might want to reduce the amount of green chillies!

(obtained from Anna Verghese)
(Can sometimes call it 'thoran', but grandma may protest:-))

Kale :This is a leafy vegetable like "Cheera". You get two varieties in the grocery stores. I prefer red one to the green one. you can try the green one too.

Ingredients :

Kale : One bunch - chopped fine.
Shallots : one.- chopped fine. (This is the small ulli we get in Kerala. Here it is not small:-)). Available in grocery stores.
Garlic : one or two ( paste half a teaspoon)- chopped fine ginger : half an inch cube - chopped fine
Green chillies : 3 to 4  chopped.
Coconut powder : 3 table spoons.
Onion : Half - chopped fine.
oil : 2 to 3 teaspoons.
salt : one teaspoon
Mustard seeds : One teaspoon.
Turmeric powder : Quarter teaspoon
Cumin seeds : a pinch

Procedure :

Heat oil in a shallow vessel. ( preferably Non-stick)
Put mustard seeds and then shallots.
When shallots start turning brown, mix the kale .
Then put the onions, ginger, garlic, salt, cumin seeds, coconut powder, and turmeric powder.
Mix it well and keep the vessel open.
Stir it occassionally till it is fully dry.

Note :
1. Those who do not like coconut can avoid it.
2. Those who can get hold of a grinder can mix the onions, garlic, ginger, coconut, cumin seeds, and turmeric in it.
Enjoy !!!!

My favorite way to prepare spaghetti squash is: boil/bake until soft, separate strands. Drain if you boiled it. Add about a cup of grated cheese, basil, and margarine. Toss. Salt and pepper to taste.

Yum.

Spiced Acorn Squash

From: marie@ai.mit.edu (Marie Lamb)
Date: 18 Nov 1993 19:11:49 GMT

Just in time for Turkey Day, my favorite squash recipe:

6 whole acorn squash
3/4 tsp. cinnamon
3/4 tsp. ginger
3/4 tsp. mace
6 Tbs. butter or margarine, melted
1 Tbs. cider vinegar
6 Tbs. maple syrup

Preheat oven to 350F. Split each squash in half lengthwise; scoop out and discard seeds and fiber from centers. Slice a thin piece from each bottom so they will rest flat in the pan. Place squash in a shallow baking dish. Mix spices together and sprinkle over squash. Mix melted butter with vinegar; drizzle over squash. Add 1/2 Tbs. maple syrup to each cavity. Cover dish with foil and bake for 1 and 3/4 hours. Remove foil; baste. Return to oven for 10 minutes. Serves 12.

If you can't get maple syrup in your area, you can substitute pancake syrup, or sprinkle the squash with brown sugar before drizzling with the butter mixture.

=======
(Serves 6-7)

Ingredients:
-------------
2 tblsp  vegetable oil
1        Butternut Squash OR small Pumpkin (about 2 lbs) peeled, seeded, and diced
1        medium onion, coarsely chopped
1 clove  garlic, minced
16 oz    canned tomatoes, undrained
1        green pepper, seeded, cut into 1" cubes
14 oz    can whole kernal corn
1        green chili, coarsely chopped (optional)
1/2 tsp  salt
1/4 tsp  pepper

Instructions:
-------------
Heat oil in large skillet over medium heat. Add squash, onion, and garlic; cook for 5 minutes or until onion is tender.

Coarsely chop tomatoes; add tomatoes and bell pepper to skillet. Bring to a boil over high heat. Cover; reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes.

Add remaining ingredients. Simmer covered, 5 minutes or until squash is tender. Uncover; increase heat to high. Continue cooking a few minutes or until most liquid has evaporated.

Note:
-----
Pumpkin is the traditional squash used in this dish, but butternut is less stringy and easier to cut and peel.

My Notes:
--------
I used butternut, and it was yummy. Also used more garlic. It took me a bit longer to cook than the recipe indicates. I didn't have whole tomatoes, but crushed which probably made a liquid difference. My squash may have been cubed a bit big, too. So if you dish is taking long, I suggest adding the green pepper late in the stage for it to retain color better. This is a very attractive dish. I would also suggest using fresh or frozen corn instead of canned for appearance and taste.

MALAI KOFTAS (SOUTH ASIAN MEATBALLS & VEGETABLE BALLS)
============================================================

Ingredients:
------------

Kofta Ball:
----------

2    yellow squash
2    zucchini squash
1    white or yellow onion
cia. 2 cups chickpea (garbonzo) flour.
1    tsp    ground Coriander
1/2 tsp Cayenne bit of salt
1/2 tsp baking powder
1    egg (optional)
Instructions:
-------------
There are two parts to the preparation. I start with the Kofta (vegetable) balls. While baking (or deep fry if you like grease) the Kofta balls, prepare the Malai (Hindi for "cream") sauce.

Heat oven to 425 or so. In large bowl, grate the squashes and onion, add spices, add optional egg.

Mix chickpea flour till bread dough consistency. Form kofta "dough" into 1 inch diameter balls. Place on cookie sheet, bake for 25 minutes or so.

While cooking: Mix Malai sauce.

Malai Sauce:
------------
4 large tomatoes
1 hot chili (serrano or Jap). Remove seeds if wimpy.
1.5 inch fresh ginger. or full teaspoon powdered.
2 cups cream

Puree above in blender.

Heat 4 tablespoons peanut oil in saucepan.

Mix:
----
2 tsp ground Cumin
3/4 tsp Turmeric
2 tsp Garam Masala
2 tsp Paprika

Add the above spices all at once to hot oil for 1 minute. Add tomato(e) puree to spices. Add 1 more cup cream to spices and the puree. Boil.

Reduce heat, simmer for 10 minutes. Add half of the cooked Kofta balls. Simmer another 10 to soften them.

Serve with brown rice, chapatis, vinegar soaked onions and chilies.

Heuristics:
----------
1) Slightly wet hands when forming Kofta balls.

2) Freeze other half of Kofta balls and use with next batch of Malai to save time.
3) Keep Kofta balls separate from Malai sauce till needed. (They absorb the liquid from sauce)

4) Milk can be substituted for some of the cream. Have not tried soy milk.

5) Add 1 drop red and 1 drop yellow food coloring to vinegar to make reasonably authentic orange onions (a la Akbar's)

SOUTHERN SUMMER SQUASH

Ingredients:
-------------
1 1/2 lbs of yellow squash
3 tblsp bread crumbs
2 tblsp diet marg.
2 egg whites
1 tblsp minced onion flakes

-------------
Preheat oven to 350. Wash and slice squash and put in pan of water. Cook on top of the stove until soft, drain. In a large bowl mash squash up. Add the 2 tbs of marg, egg whites, onion, and 1 1/2 tbs of bread crumbs, mix well. Pour mixture in a greased pan. Dot the top with the 2 tsp of marg and sprinkle the rest of the bread crumbs on top. SQUASH RECIPES

Acorn, butternut, bannana, spaghetti etc squash are great if you just steam them in the microwave until soft, then mash in a little margarine and cinnamon.

I like to take zuchinni, crookneck (yellow), and pattypan (summer) squash, and either layer them with a little garlic, black pepper, and steam them in the microwave (with a splash of sake for flavor), or sautee them with onions and mushrooms with rosemary and white wine. Slice into thin chunks for either.

Bannana squash also makes a great thickener and sweetener for winter vegeatable soups (with cabbage, potatoes, onion, turnip, celery, and whatever else is in the fridge).

You can also slice acorn or butternut squash in half, make a filling of some kind of grain or rice with nuts, cheese, sauteed veggies, maybe some raisins, then stuff the squash halves and bake at 350 until the squash is soft. Be creative.

SQUASH SHELLS

----------
Ingredients:
------------
1/2 spaghetti squash per person
1/4 cup cooked ham chunks per squash half
1/2 cup cooked peas
1/2 beaten egg yolk per squash half
1/4 cup cream per squash half
1/4 cup Parmesan cheese per squash half

Instructions:
-------------
Cook and drain the squash. Separate out the spaghetti strands, handling the shells carefully so they do not tear. Set the shells aside to drain. In a bowl mix together the strands of spaghetti squash with the rest of the ingredients. Mound this mixture back into the squash halves and microwave or bake until heated through.

Notes:
------
Since I was growing spaghetti squash last year - I planted three which was a big mistake - those vines are incredibly prolific - the need to find things to do with them turned critical pretty fast. Here is my list:

1. Cooked spaghetti squash has a "noodle-like" quality which makes it a good addition to lots of soups.

2. Eat the seeds. They are great raw and even better dried and lightly salted and toasted (similar to pumpkin seeds).

3. Eat as a side dish vegetable with appropriate herbs, butter, cheese... (Incidently, the best way to cook spaghetti squash is in the Microwave -1/2 squash, cut lengthwise, covered and vented for about 8 minutes on Hi).

4. I had so much of the stuff around that I got out all my old zuchinni recipes and tried using finely chopped spaghetti squash instead of zuchinni in all those cake and loaf recipes...worked like a charm.

5. Spaghetti squash can be sliced in chunks and eaten raw, either added to salads or with a dip.

Sweet Potatoes with Grapefruit

From: arielle@taronga.com (Stephanie da Silva)
Date: Mon, 16 Aug 1993 00:37:57 GMT

1 3/4 pounds sweet potatoes
1 large grapefruit
3 tablespoons unsalted butter
1/3 cup (firmly packed) light brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well beaten

Preheat oven to 375F. Put the potatoes, unpeeled, in a large saucepan and cover with water. With a swivel-bladed vegetable peeler, peel the yellow zest from the grapefruit and put it in with the potatoes. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat and simmer until the sweet potatoes are just fork-tender, about 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, with a long-pronged fork or tongs, dip the grapefruit into the boiling potato water and blanch, turning constantly, for 30 seconds. Rinse the grapefruit briefly under cold running water to cool and peel off the white pith. Section the grapefruit and peel off the membranes over a bowl to catch the juice. Reserve all the juice and pulp; discard any seeds.

When the sweet potatoes are done, drain and let cool; discard the grapefruit zest. Peel the potatoes and put them into a food processor along with the grapefruit pulp and juice, the butter, brown sugar and salt. Puree until smooth. Add the eggs and mix to blend.

Pour the sweet potato mixture into a well-buttered, 6-cup souffle dish. Place in a pan of hot water and bake for 45 minutes, or until the center is set.
Swiss Style Green Beans

This is an old family favorite that is a holiday staple at our house. It is especially nice because it can be prepared the night before and popped in the oven on Thanksgiving/Christmas Day ... one less thing to do on these busy days.

Lightly saute the onions in 4 T. of the margarine, and stir in the flour, sugar, salt and white pepper. Blend well. Stir in the sour cream. Cook until thick, stirring occasionally. Drain the green beans and add to the sour cream mixture. Pour into a buttered casserole. Top with swiss cheese. Melt the remaining 3 T. of margarine, then stir in the corn flakes. Spread over the top of the cheese.

Bake at 350 F. for 30-40 minutes

This may be prepared in advance and refrigerated, but it is better if you prepare the corn flake mixture when you are ready to bake the dish.
